INFLU IS ON THE INCREASE HEREAuthorities May Act on Suggestion To Open Contagious Hospital TemporarilyMayor Says It Is up to Board of Health—More
Cases Reported

Mayor Perry D. Thompson stated this afternoon that he was ready to open the contagious hospital the minute that the board of health deemed it advisable to do so, as a precautionary measure against the further spread of influenza in Lowell.

Dr. Pierre Brunelle, chairman of the board of health, when questioned on the advisability of opening the hospital buildings in Varum avenue, said that the sooner the hospital is opened the better. The one detriment, he says, to its immediate opening is the non-completion of the Varum avenue sewer.

Mayor Thompson said that the hospital buildings had not yet been formally turned over to the city by Architect Henry L. Hendry, but that Mr. Hendry had promised to do so by Wednesday of this week. At that time the buildings will belong to the city and the city can do whatever it wants with them.

Influenza continued on the increase today with a total of 41 cases reported during Sunday and today up to noon. Doctors say that there is a large amount of sickness throughout the city due to either influenza or its allied disease, pneumonia. It is next to impossible to secure a nurse and the hospitals are again reaching their capacities.

A meeting of the staff of doctors of St. John's hospital was scheduled for late this afternoon to take action on the advisability of giving serum treatment to people suffering from the disease.

A temporary sewer arrangement was installed at the new hospital last fall when the epidemic was raging and no doubt this could be used again if the authorities decide to reopen the buildings. The matter now rests entirely in the hands of the board of health.

BERLIN, Sunday, Jan. 19.—By the Associated Press.—The streets of Berlin today were virtually buried under a deluge of election dodgers, handbills and leaflets, while the fronts of houses and handy windows were plastered with huge posters hung up by campaign workers during the morning, frequently without the knowledge of proprietors.

The spectacle was one wholly new to Berlin. The distribution of handbills is ordinarily severely restricted by police regulations. Today, however, the house and shop fronts on Unter den Linden were one continuous billboard appeal to the voters. The much-advertised paper shortage, with which the publishers have been forced to contend, hardly appeared to be an actual factor in the light of the mass of campaign literature with which Berlin has literally been choked for the past few days. The majority socialists alone are reported to have distributed thirty million dodgers, in addition to wall-papering the city with millions of posters.

The entire apparatus of the government was set in motion for the majority socialist campaign, which was the most effective of any carried on for today's historic election of members of the national assembly. In addition to having the strategic advantage of governmental control, the Socialdemokrat party was more adept at campaigning than the bourgeois factions, to whom the game under present conditions was somewhat new.

The independent socialists confined their attempts at vote-getting to public meetings. The German democratic party, however, was liberally represented among the handbills and posters, and in addition it carried on an active house-to-house canvass. The conservatives, the clericals and the national liberals proved themselves comparative tyros in campaigning methods, relying chiefly on the party newspaper organs.

It is estimated that on less than seven divisions of troops were placed at the disposal of the government for the purpose of protecting the polling places. A machine gun squad was in position within a hundred feet of each voting place, while strong military police patrols were also on guard. The voters everywhere turned out early and the rush to the polls resulted in the formation of long lines of men and women awaiting their turn to vote.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A circular issued by General March at the instance of Secretary Baker and made public here today directs the attention of officers and enlisted men returning from France "to the opportunity which the Boy Scouts afford for them to serve their country after discharge" by becoming scout masters.

It adds: "The war department is in full accord with purposes of this movement and desires to assist. It is felt that the co-operation of a large number of officers and enlisted men who have seen service in France will inspire the boys with patriotism and a spirit of devotion to their country as nothing else can do."

Lincoln Street Woman Killed
By Husband's UncleGeorge Shields Fires Four Shots Into Body of Mrs.
Rose Traynor—Murderer Still at Large—Cause of Murder Unknown to Police—Alleged That Mur-derer Had Been Drinking

Mrs. Rose Traynor of 102 Lincoln street was shot by George Shields, an uncle of her husband, at her home about 11.40 this morning and died a short time later while on her way to St. John's hospital. The murderer is still at large.

The reason for the shooting has not yet been ascertained. The ambulance was called to the scene and it was found that four shots had been fired in the woman's body, one through her left breast and three through her right hip.

The police and Medical Examiner Dr. T. B. Smith were called to the case and at the time of going to press Dr. Smith had not completed his examination.

Mrs. Traynor was 34 years of age and was born at Eastport, Me. She was first married to Fred Beach from whom she was divorced at Calais, Me., about two years ago. When she obtained her divorce she was also granted custody of her two minor children, who made their home with their mother in this city.

The young woman was married to Mr. Traynor in this city about 11 months ago and since that time was making her home at 102 Lincoln st. The couple were visited quite frequently by an uncle of Mr. Traynor, George Shields, a paver in the employ of the street department, who resides at 3 Howard's court. It is claimed that Shields was a drinking man and when under the influence of liquor he was very abusive toward Mrs. Traynor, and it is also alleged that he had threatened her on several occasions.

Mrs. Esther Clark, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Traynor, who came from Eastport, Me., to spend the winter with the latter, stated this afternoon that Shields had threatened Mrs. Traynor with bodily harm on several occasions, and that the last time he called at the Traynor home prior to this morning was Thanksgiving day, at which time she claims he drew a revolver out of his pocket while in an argument with Mrs. Traynor.

Mrs. Clark stated this afternoon that this morning Shields called at the Traynor home and was very abusive in his talk towards Mrs. Traynor. At that time Mrs. Clark said he was under the influence of liquor. He left the house shortly after 10 o'clock and returned at about 11 o'clock, coming from the direction of Gorham street. As he was going toward the Traynor home Mrs. Traynor and Mrs. Clark were just stepping out of the house. Shields, so it is claimed, approached Mrs. Traynor and started talking to her. He made several remarks concerning the woman's character, and then said he had come to square up things.

After firing the shots Shields started to run through Lincoln street towards Gorham street, carrying the revolver in his right hand. When a spot was reached along the brook between the Traynor home and Tanner street, he threw the revolver, but the weapon struck a limb and bounded back in the road. He quickly picked up the weapon and threw it across the brook and into the field.

The throwing of the revolver was witnessed by Alexander Arlinsky of 62 Lincoln street and Elmer Lord, who followed the murderer after the shooting occurred. It is claimed that while Shields was making his escape he was being followed by Hyman Keith of 102 Lincoln street, a neighbor of the Traynor people, who was in his home when the shooting occurred and who was attracted to the outside by the revolver shots. He gave chase, but Shields proved too fast for him, for he lost track of Shields when the railroad tracks were reached at the junction of Tanner street.

guard in dress uniform was drawn up in the court of honor. A fanfare of drums and trumpets marked the president's appearance. This was followed by the playing of the American national anthem.

Next Attorney General To Be
Sherman Whipple, Friend
of Justice Brandeis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Sherman Whipple of Boston will be the next attorney-general of the United States. He will succeed Thomas Watt Gregory, whose resignation has been accepted by the president, to take effect March 1.

Nearly three years ago Mr. Whipple was mentioned as a possible appointee to the United States supreme court instead of Mr. Brandeis. Mr. Whipple was a staunch supporter of Mr. Brandeis for the appointment and submitted his views to the senate judiciary committee when the confirmation of Mr. Brandeis was held up by that organization.

It is expected that Mr. Whipple's nomination will be called soon by President Wilson for submission to the senate. This will admit of the present senate considering Mr. Whipple's name and effecting the confirmation before conclusion of the final session of the democratic congress.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—An intensive campaign to find employment for men discharged from military and naval service was opened here today with Gov. In conjunction with this movement sessions of both houses of the legislature were impressed by their presiding officers with the need of immediate action for measures which will "knock down the bars of civil service and cut the red tape" as expressed by President Edwin T. McKnight of the senate.

Gov. Coolidge and Mayor Peters and a score of aides started a canvass of the state house, city departments and large industrial and commercial plants throughout the state in the search for possible vacancies. It was planned to back the canvass system and exhaustive with an aim to interview every large employer and to list all openings of the employment bureau for discharged soldiers and sailors on Boston common.

NEW FARES WORKING OUT ALL RIGHT

That the new fare schedule which became effective Jan. 8 is working out in a satisfactory manner to both the general public and the employees is the opinion of Thomas Leas, superintendent of the local division of the Bay State street railway.

"The new system seems to be finding favor with the public as far as I have observed," Mr. Leas told The Sun today, "and in simplicity and efficiency is far ahead of the former system. Under the old rates there were four different kinds of tickets in use, besides the school children's tickets. Now there is only one 'cent ticket' besides the latter, which makes for better and quicker service to the patrons."

"The public seems to have taken hold of the new ticket system in fine shape, and I should judge that about 80 per cent of the people in this city are using them. We have not noticed any falling off in the traffic as yet which can be traced to the new fares, and this seems to indicate that the public is doing its best to co-operate with the company in every way possible."

ONLY NURSES SAW LITTLE
PRINCE JOHN DIE

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Via Montreal—

The death of Prince John, youngest son of King George, came so quickly and unexpectedly Saturday night that there was no time for the nurses who were with him to summon the king and Queen Mary to his bedside before he expired.

In recent years the delicate health of Prince John made it necessary that he always have an attendant. Consequently he was never seen on public occasions with the other members of the royal family, but lived in comparative privacy at Frogmore House, Windsor, or at Sandringham Palace.

The London newspapers point out how the king and queen have sought unceasingly during the war time to bury the tragedy of their youngest son's delicate health in the silence of their hearts, never hinting to the nation the nature of the personal anxieties weighing upon them. Public sympathy was expressed for the royal couple yesterday in all the churches.

Haverhill Tragedy Uncovered

Sordid Story of Lust, Laziness and Crime

Haverhill, Jan. 20.—In a fit of despondency last night, Joseph E. Danforth, a wood turner, killed his wife, Mrs. Maud Danforth, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Allen Graham, aged 47 years, in their tenement on the first floor of the Danforth building, 110 West street. Both women were unaccountably found with an axe, and Danforth in his rage had used a knife, a hatchet and various other household utensils to kill his wife.

The axe was found recently in bed room of his little children. Just why he did this the police have not been able to learn, but they believe that he intended to do away with them as well as his wife and Mrs. Graham. Danforth told the police that his father died a few years ago in an English insane hospital and that he thought that he was mentally irresponsible. He said that he had been out of work for some time and that there was nothing in the house to eat, and he had grown enraged because of the manner in which they nagged him about not securing work.

It was from Danforth that the police first learned of the double tragedy. He walked into the station house shortly before midnight and told the officer in charge that he had just killed two persons. He appeared rational and the officer thought for a moment that the visitor was joking.

Slayer Tells of Crime

Danforth sat down and unfolded the story of the killing that proved startling from the cool manner in which he related it. He said that while he was engaged in the work of slaughter he was unable to control himself, but that when it was all over he had quivered and was willing to tell all and stand the consequences.

Officers were rushed to the house and a terrible scene met their gaze. Mrs. Graham was lying in bed with her head crushed in from successive blows of an axe, and Mrs. Danforth's body was found in the kitchen, where she had dragged herself from the bed in which she had been lying with her mother. It was in the kitchen that she received the blows that finally ended her life. Not alone had she been hit with the axe, but the infuriated man had struck her on the head with a baton and had also used a poker and several other household articles to beat out her life. Mrs. Graham's throat was also cut with an old bread knife.

Children Were Tied

Two of the three children of the household were in a rear bedroom where they had been securely tied hand and foot. They had been awakened by the screams of the women, but were unable to get out of bed. The third child, an infant of 6 months, was still in bed with a nursing bottle by its side, lying close by the body of its grandmother.

The children, Lawrence, aged 4, and Dorris, aged 2, that were tied, were released by the police and with the infant they were taken to the city farm. The medical examiner was summoned and a careful survey of the premises was conducted under his supervision.

Triangle Affair

Danforth told the police the story of his associations with Mrs. Graham and his wife, Mrs. Danforth's daughter. He said that he came to this city from England, where he was an unmarried man. He said he intended to marry a woman here in this country and was disappointed when he found that she was already married.

They continued to live together and three years later Mrs. Graham's daughter, Minnie, came to this country and went to live with them.

It appears that his affections shifted from Mrs. Graham to the daughter, but the older woman made no objections. On Jan. 11, less than a week ago, Danforth and the young woman were married by Rev. Elias S. Morse, but previous to this she bore him three illegitimate children. He said that the oldest of the three was born in England, where he had sent her with $500 he drew out of the bank. When the child was born there she returned, and it was given out that the child had been adopted. Since then the other two children were born. Danforth was arraigned in court this morning charged with murder.

British Stumble Into Factory Where Enemy Made "Booby Trap"

LONDON, January.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Detection by British army investigators of German "booby traps" saved the lives of many an officer or man of the British army during the period when the Germans were retreating from France. "I am convinced," says an official, "that we owe many of our victories to the fact that we have been able to find the Huns' favorite places by capturing near by a factory where he made his booby traps. When we occupied it we learned much from the partly completed traps we found lying about the place."

"One of them was an iron plate. This the Huns dropped in a roadway so that it would likely be trod upon by a soldier or horse of our advancing troops. The plate was in two parts, with a spring inside and usually contained a detonator connecting with a heavy charge of explosive. When the weight of the foot was removed, the spring sprang into place and exploded the detonator, and the damage was done."

"These spring detonators were the Germans' specialty. They consisted of a tube containing a little spring with a hook at one end. Attached to the hook was a string with a hook at the other end. Attached to the hook was a string or wire connecting with the explosive charge. Any arrangement by which the spring could be disordered and then suddenly contracted served to jerk the string, and the charge was exploded."

"One night I received a call from our lieutenant colonel who had spent the day directing movements from a recently captured German dugout. He told me he was nervous, and believed that he was associating with a booby trap, and asked me to send him a set of engineers to look it over. I went myself."

"The colonel sat in the dugout about ten feet down, on a chair by a table. Directly in front of the chair was a petrol can and it was the can he feared. He had noticed it early in the morning when the dugout was first occupied, but had been too busy during the day to have had time to examine it until evening. When he found nothing, but he had a hunch that it was a trap and wanted expert assistance."

"I dug a little trench around the can, but could find no wires, and then tapped it, but received no sound other than that which might come from any old empty can. There was nothing to do but open it, and borrowing the colonel's flashlight I went at it as gingerly as I could."

"It was partly filled with about eight pounds of one of the most deadly modern explosives known to science. This I removed very carefully, and in the bottom of the can found the spring detonator. It had been fastened to the bottom of the can in such a way that if the can had been lifted from the dugout the spring would have exploded and his party would have been blown to bits."

"The colonel paled a little when I showed him just what he had been associating with all day, and very fearfully thanked himself for obeying his hunch to let that can alone."

DR. HARRINGTON DEAD

Former Lowell Man Dies From Plomaine—Was High in Medical Profession

Dr. Thomas Francis Harrington, deputy health commissioner of Massachusetts, a native of Lowell, died yesterday morning at his home, 310 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, of plomaine poisoning after an illness of five weeks.

For the past 12 years Dr. Harrington had been a resident of Boston but previous to that time he had always lived in this city where he was born June 10, 1856.

The reputation of the Lowell man was known throughout the eastern part of the country and his contributions to matters of public health and his conspicuous work in important medical fields had made him one of the foremost men in the medical profession of his time.

Especially valuable were his contributions to the physical welfare of school children. He originated the idea of a floating hospital and the setting down of congested districts in the summer months. He was also the originator of the "Health Day" in the Boston schools where he held the position of supervisor of school hygiene from 1907 to 1915.

Dr. Harrington was the son of Thomas and Mary H. Harrington. He began life as a newsboy in this city and for a time worked in the local mills. He received his early education in the public schools and was graduated from the Lowell high school in 1875. He was major of the school battalion. In 1875 he entered Harvard Medical school and shortly after his graduation became widely known to Harvard men by his "History of the Harvard Medical School."

Before assuming the active practice of his profession Dr. Harrington studied abroad at the Rotunda hospital, Dublin, as well as in London, Paris and Vienna. He returned to Lowell and opened his office in the Five Cent Savings bank building. From the very start he proved himself as an active and progressive member of the profession. He was chosen a member of the local board of health and one of his earliest achievements was the inauguration here for the first time in this country of the floating hospital plan by chartering a steamer on Merrimack river and taking sick children away from the city to the steamer.

Another plan he introduced was that of flooding the streets of the tenement districts during the hot weather. This brought such good results that it was adopted in many parts of the country.

While he remained in this city he was a visiting physician at St. John's hospital and for three years was consulting physician there. In 1894 he was made secretary of the United States pension board and filled the duties of examining surgeon of that board.

In 1907 he was asked by James J. Storrow, then chairman of the Boston school committee, to accept the position of supervisor of school hygiene in that city and his election was unanimous. Two years later he was elected president of the Boston Playground association and in 1910 attended the International School Hygiene congress in Paris.

In the same year he was appointed physician in chief at St. Elizabeth hospital and in 1915 was a delegate from the United States to the 15th international congress of medicine held in London.

His work as supervisor of hygiene in the Boston schools won him immediate recognition all over the country on account of the novel and successful health measures he introduced. In May, 1915, he was selected as deputy health commissioner by the state board of labor and industries out of 40 applicants. Two years ago he was appointed a member of the medical staff of the state guard by the then Governor McCall. During the influenza epidemic last fall he was in charge of a marine hospital at Brookline and when the formation of the state guard was completed he was commissioned a lieutenant colonel.

Other positions which the Lowell doctor held were instructor in schools for health officers at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; director of St. Vincent's orphan asylum and examiner for the civil service commission.

He was a member of the Harvard Alumni association, of which he was formerly vice president; the American Medical association, the National Association of Boards of Health, the American Public Health association, the American School Hygiene association, the American Playground association, the International Association of Medical Inspectors of Schools, the international congress on tuberculosis, and an honorary member of the Guild of St. Luke, London. He was also a charter member of Lowell council, 72, Knights of Columbus, and was present at the

La Grippe Coughs—

Stop those ugly hard la grippe coughs that weaken the system and lower the vital resistance to more serious ailments, by taking Foley's Honey and Tar.

Some victims of la grippe never fully recover the health of the lungs and the cough that "hangs on" is the cough that threatens.

Foley's Honey and Tar

helps from the very first dose. It puts a soothing, healing coating on the inflamed surfaces, relieves the tightness and soreness, raises phlegm easily, and gives comforting relief of ease and warmth. It is also good for bronchial coughs, troublesome night coughs, tickling throat and hoarseness. Do not accept a substitute.

"I had an attack of pneumonia, both lungs being involved. After recovering somewhat, my lungs failed to 'clear up,' and I suffered severe pains from congestion. I took one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, and it took all the distress away and cleared my lungs at the congestion." Yours truly, J. D. Enterkin, Winston, Ga.

I was sick in bed with La Grippe and had a very bad cough. I took Foley's Honey and Tar and it helped me so much. I kept on and it stopped my cough and I got better. So now I am around the house again. I am 75 years old." Mrs. Mary Kishy, Spokane, Washington.

FRENCH JURISTS INDICT KAISER

Extract From Letter to Franz Joseph Proves His Crime as Murderer

World Must Provide New Court, They Say, To Try
Its Greatest Criminal

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Some points in the reports to which Premier Clemenceau referred Saturday, when he said he had consulted two eminent jurists on the penal responsibility of the ex-German emperor, are now made public.

The report was drawn up by Ferdinand Larnaude, dean of the Paris Law Faculty, and Dr. A. G. de Lapradelle, professor of rights of nations in the same faculty.

The object of the inquiry was to investigate from a purely juridical point of view if the crimes committed by the German government and

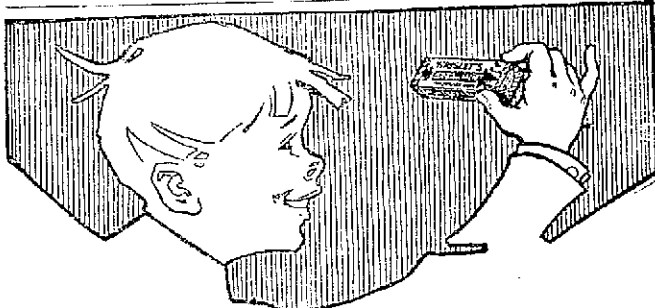

Daily Health Talks

A Single Remedy Often Cures
Many Diseases

BY VALENTINE MOTT, M. D.

It is almost impossible to give a list of the endless diseases that follow indigestion. Perhaps a whole column in this newspaper would be required to print them all. You eat to keep alive—to supply blood and flesh and bone and muscle and brain. It is easy to see that if your food is not digested and taken up by the delicate organs and distributed where it is needed, a disease of some sort is sure to come. Indigestion is a common symptom, and so are liver complaint, loss of flesh, nervousness, bad memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, no appetite. Many times, when neglected, indigestion results in coughs, throat diseases, catarrh, bronchitis and even more dangerous things. And all these disorders arise because the food is not properly digested in the stomach. It is plain even to a child that relief and cure are to be had only by setting up a healthy condition in the stomach. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., many years ago combined a number of vegetable growths into a temperance remedy for indigestion, and called it Golden Medical Discovery. It is probably the most efficacious discovery ever made in medicine, for the list of people all over the world who have had their countless ills overcome by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes an amazing total of thousands.

I know of no advice better than this: Begin a home treatment today with this good vegetable medicine. It will show you better than I can tell what it will do. When taking Golden Medical Discovery, you can rest assured of one very important thing—it contains neither alcohol nor opiates. There is nothing in it but standard roots and herbs that possess curative properties of a high order. A safe medicine is the only kind you can afford to take.—Adv.

NOTICE TO NERVOUS WOMEN

Mrs. Seibert Tells How You Can
Overcome Nervous Conditions

Louisville, Ky.—"I suffered badly from nervousness, a run-down condition, no appetite and pains in my back—until I just had to give up. A friend told me about Vinol and I felt better after taking the second bottle. Now I have a good appetite and am feeling fine, strong and healthy in every way."—Mrs. I. P. Seibert.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Seibert's case, is because it contains the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength. army involved the penal responsibility of the ex-German emperor, what tribunal should judge him, and whether his extradition could be demanded.

New Tribunal Urged
The authors of the report give a long argument against the bringing of the ex-emperor before a tribunal of common law, because his will commanded, but his hand did not execute.

They say that he was not the principal offender and that, therefore, could only be punished as an accomplice. An international tribunal consequently must be found.

They consider The Hague arbitration court founded in 1899 conference incompetent to try the emperor, as the court was meant for cases where no penalty is to be applied.

They argue that an entirely new jurisdiction must be created, which should be the first instrument of a league of nations and in which should appear exclusively the states which fought Germany.

Extradition Sure
The two French jurists prove that the extradition of the ex-German ruler cannot be refused as he is not a political refugee. The report says: "It is antijudicial to assimilate war with conspiracy. Crimes of war are crimes of public law and international law not political crimes."

The authors of the report begin by establishing that no penalty is possible against a nation any more than against a company, but that the manager or director of a company can be punished.

Kaiser Really Liable

"The emperor in the first place," says the report, "as king of Prussia, is president of the confederation by virtue of a special law in which human will does not enter. The German sovereign depends only on God and the sword."

"With such a conception of power it would be unjust to the highest degree to allow the emperor to escape responsibility for his actions; his responsibility for the war for which, under the constitution, the decision belongs to him alone; his responsibility for violation of Belgium neutrality, which was willed by him; responsibility for acts of terrorism by his troops, which he willed and ordered."

The report quotes a letter from the ex-emperor to the emperor of Aus-

trial in the early days of the war, in which the German emperor wrote: Advocated Terrorism

"My soul is torn asunder, but everything must be put to fire and blood. The throats of men and women, children and the aged must be cut and not a tree nor a house left standing."

"With such methods of terror which alone can strike so degenerate a people as the French, the war will finish before two months, while if I use humanitarian methods it may prolong for years. Despite all my repugnance I have had to choose the first system."

The words "I" and "my" in the letter are italicized in the report. "Modern law," the report continues, "does not recognize irresponsible authorities, even at the summit of hierarchy. It brings a state down from its pedestal and makes it submit to the rule of the judge."

"There can therefore be no question of saving from the judge a man who is at the summit of hierarchy either by the application of internal law or of international law."

TRIO CONFESS TO EAST BOSTON HOLDUP

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Two women, Mrs. Mary Thistle, 28, and Miss Sadie Drohan, 21, of 37 1-2 Hanson street, and a man, William Gallagher, 26, of 42 Hanson street, South End, are held by the police in connection with the murderous assault and robbery of Carmine Mazza, aged 34, in East Boston late Saturday night.

The three were arrested early yesterday morning at 37 1-2 Hanson street. Acting on a clue furnished by Mazza, officers visited a house on Milford street. From there they trailed to the house on Hanson street. When the police arrived they found the Thistle and Drohan women there. While cross-examining them Gallagher appeared. His clothing and collar

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

the police say, were covered with blood and one of his front teeth was missing. He made no attempt to resist arrest, but said, "I guess you boys got me wrong."

When searched at Station 4, 347½ was found on Gallagher. In the interval between the robbery and his appearance at the South End house Gallagher admitted he had purchased a new hat. The man who attacked Mazza last night had the same hat, the police say.

Following the arrest of the trio, they were taken to the East Boston relief station, where Mazza was taken for treatment because of injuries due to the beating he received. He positively identified each of the three.

TENDER LUNGS

For almost five decades the building up of vitality and the strengthening of tender lungs has been associated with

later they were taken to police headquarters, photographed and their fingerprints taken.

According to the police both Gallagher and the women have admitted their guilt and have given in detail the part they played in the holdup. They told the police that it was planned Friday night on information given by Mrs. Thistle, who had been doing some housework for Mazza at his home, 64 Webster street, East Boston, where he lived alone.

The Drohan and Thistle women called on Mazza shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night and asked him to go out and buy some wine. In his absence, the women are said to have confessed they let Gallagher into the house and concealed him in a front room.

When they left the house, Mazza accompanied them to the door. While passing through the dark hallway on his way back to the kitchen he was attacked and beaten over the head until he was unconscious, although he put up a good fight.

When he regained his senses, Mazza staggered a quarter of a mile to the quarters of Engine 49, Orleans and Summer streets, where he fell exhausted from loss of blood, and was later found by the firemen. His head was frightfully battered, one wound requiring 16 stitches. Gallagher asserted, the police state, that he was asked to do the job by the women and that he had been drinking heavily at the time. When arrested, he is said to have been sober.

The women are alleged to have told the police that when they broached the subject to Gallagher he replied, "I would kill a man for $500."

The trio will be arraigned before Judge Joseph H. Barnes in the East Boston district court today. They were closely questioned about a series of holdups in Boston, but denied emphatically having any part in them.

ANOTHER OIL LAMP PARABLE

You wouldn't think the Standard Oil company would ever have missed an opportunity to advertise kerosene, would you? It did. It probably missed one of the greatest advertising opportunities of its career, as is shown by this circumstance:

Until four years ago the Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay had never enjoyed electric lights. Kerosene lamps were used for years, gave good satisfaction to the family apparently, and no one but the servants objected.

Don't be like the Standard Oil in neglecting a great opportunity to advertise how excellent a store you have. You neglect to have the good story about yourself and your business passed along by over 50,000 voices, if you fail to have an ad in

START BUILDING

There are many obstacles to business that would disappear if government work that has been planned for years were started promptly. The federal government has a duty to perform in the premises and one that should not be allowed to lag. Here in Lowell, for example, a new postoffice is to be built. Why not get to it without delay?

The improvement of the Merrimack river is another project that could be taken up at once if the legislature would do its part.

It may be said that not much can be done on this undertaking before spring; but if the legal authorization be promptly given, we believe the treasury department of the government will lose no time in getting the operations started. That would put new life into business all through the Merrimack valley.

This work is held up awaiting the action of the state legislature in authorizing the million dollars which is the part of the expense to be charged to the state.

Coming down to the municipal governments, we believe that they can aid greatly if they start up building projects without any unnecessary delay. They should do more than that, they should hurry them along so as to encourage business in other lines. If all were to do this, the result would be a more speedy resumption of all kinds of business.

Few cities are without building plans that have been held up as a result of the war. Here in Lowell, we have a high school project with several demands for other school buildings which are greatly needed. Why not get things moving so as to begin the work as soon as possible? If the municipal council and the school board should have to meet daily for the next two weeks, it would not be too much of a sacrifice to make in order to reach a solution of that problem in time to start work as soon as the weather will permit.

The men who have planned the auditorium as a memorial to the soldiers and sailors who served in the war, will waste no time after they get the necessary authorization of the legislature, which is expected to be given with more than usual haste. In the interest of the public, the legislature should class this among the emergency measures requiring to be hurried to enactment.

President Wilson advised the starting of public works in order to keep business moving during the transition period. It is the duty of federal, state and municipal authorities to take the hint and get busy on whatever kind of work can be started without delay. The exigency is here and the men who delay such work for a single hour are acting as clogs on the wheels of progress and against the public interest.

Can the usual inertia of officialdom be overcome in this case so that an impetus be given to the general business of New England, and more particularly of Massachusetts, and the city of Lowell?

It is in time of public necessity such as now confronts them that the worth and resource of public officials are shown.

Our board of trade, which during the past year has concerned itself mainly with war work, may be able to help in bringing an early start in building operations. If so, it will undoubtedly use its influence for that purpose.

PERPLEXED SHOWMEN

The movies represent a wonderful industry and so much money in the shape of dimes and nickels do the patrons show under the flicker

government, must be democratic. Paternalistic, patronizing, "up stage" directing and dictating, roused resentment or was baffled by indifference. Only where skilled leadership was inspired by the spirit of co-operation was success attained.

We learned that such democratic play is essential to vigorous morale in fighting or working. The boys at the front combined playing and fighting and went into the "great game" with the same spirit they learned in gentler sports. When labor shall be able to include that spirit of constructive play, with its joyous rivalry in accomplishment, we shall have learned one more great lesson the war tried to teach us.

The least we can do is to save the splendid machinery we build for the organization of amusement among the soldiers and sailors and apply it to civil life. The dull boy produced by all work and no play is an inefficient worker and a poor citizen. Our industrial centers, even more than our military camps, need organized, virile, democratic amusement.

Our schools and colleges, social centers and factories can make splendid use of the amusement forces mobilized for war.

OPEN THE HOSPITALS

During the past week, there have been some alarming deaths as a result of influenza. This disease is again assuming epidemic proportions. To stop its progress, the board of health should insist upon isolation of the patients. This might prove inconvenient to the families afflicted; but inconvenience is preferable to death.

There are few families that would not put up with a vast amount of inconvenience in order to be saved from this terrible scourge.

The fact that physicians and nurses wear masks in treating the patients proves that they believe it to be highly contagious or infectious. That being the case, why temporize with a disease so very dangerous? For this purpose, the isolation hospital should be opened for patients without any further dallying. The sewer is not finished and there is no telling when it will be; but if this is not presently feasible, then some temporary arrangement may be made if none such has been made already so that the hospital can be used without further delay.

It is now up to Dr. Smith, the superintendent, to devise plans by which the institution can be used to meet the exigencies of the present epidemic. The hospital and all the expensive equipment, together with the superintendent, should not be held in idleness while an epidemic such as the present is claiming many victims, we might say, daily.

THE MOONEY CASE

The National Labor congress has voted to inaugurate a general strike on July 4th if the case of Thomas J. Mooney be not disposed of to their satisfaction before that date. That is paramount to holding a threat over the courts of the land, and it will not be tolerated in this nation.

The Bolsheviks of Russia could do nothing more subversive of freedom and justice than to make a threat of that kind.

The administration of justice, so far as it lies in the hands of the courts, must be defended at all costs against intimidation. If it is thought that Mooney has not had a fair trial, let his counsel take the necessary steps to secure one. The fountains of justice are not closed against him or any other man who has a just case. But the trial of such cases is conducted in the courts, not in newspapers or in labor halls.

It is to be hoped that union labor through the country will not be a party to any such radical action as a general strike, as a means of coercing the courts of justice.

The death of Dr. Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg at the hands of Berlin mobs, is an indication that the Germans, having overcome the socialist group known as Spartacists, will not allow them to get an opportunity to reassert their power. The mob method was not creditable, but in a matter of that kind the Germans are not very particular.

JOINT INSTALLATION BY CARRIERS AND CLERKS

The National Association of Letter Carriers and Clerks held a joint installation of officers Saturday evening at the Elks' hall, Middle street, before a record-breaking attendance of members. The big hit was the musical talent of the postal employees and the professional talent secured under the auspices of Charles A. Carey and John H. Farrell, to augment the association's soloists.

All the musical numbers, both instrumental and vocal, readings and vaudeville acts were rendered vociferously and in the memory of the oldest carrier who attended the meeting never before was such a meritorious musical entertainment put on. The meeting was opened promptly and all business despatched before 8 o'clock so as to turn the enjoyment feature over to the chairman of the entertainment committee, Charles A. Carey.

The letter carriers' officers were installed by Past President John P. Roane, assisted by ex-President John J. Dillon as follows: President, George L. Hunt; vice president, Geo. S. Howard; financial secretary, James J. Custer; recording secretary, David H. Druey; treasurer, John P. Sheahan; trustee, Albert E. Willis; sergeant-at-arms, Thure E. Gillinson; treasurer, sick and disability association, Charles A. Carey.

The Clerks' association officers were installed as follows: President, Frank A. Hickson; vice president, Edward H. Welch; secretary, Victor F. Turnquist; treasurer, Charles A. Clough; trustees, William M. Burns, George Haggerty, William H. Howard.

The accompanist for the evening was Robert Fay, and he proved most acceptable and competent. The musical program follows: Opening number, selection from "Oh! Lady," piano, Robert Fay; song, "Rainbow Girl," Charles A. Carey; readings by William Tyler, entitled "Jim Warren," and the late Senator Vest's tribute to "The Dog." Both numbers being enthusiastically received; Al Johnson's hit, "I'll Say So Does," Walter L. Davis; encore, "Tackling 'Em Down," song, "Smiles," Timothy J. Finnegan; grand opera selections on violin, Edward Biron of the Opera House; songs, "Mother Macree" and "Mayo," John P. Roane; song, "My Sunshine Lane," Frederick Campbell; funny stories, Billy Glason of Keitt's circuit; song, "Toreador" from opera Carmen, Daniel A. Martin; xylophone selections, Romeo Couture; readings, Fred Lewis, Keitt's circuit; cornet solo, "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry," J. E. A. Lo Brun; for an encore, "The Mocking Bird," piano selection, "Leave It to Jane," Thomas J. Dowd; vaudeville acts by the two soldier-boy magicians, Kid Kelley and Lemoin; piano selection, "Middlers Thro," Thomas Maguire; closing number, the famous railroad engineer song, Charles A. Carey, to the accompaniment of the orchestra, "Casey-Jones," in which all

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 15c and 25c per box. All druggists.

The singing talent participated. The catering committee performed its tasks so agreeably to the members that it was voted to give it a rising vote of thanks. The committee follows: Chairman, Maurice J. Powers, John P. Sheahan, Edward H. Welch, James O'Dea, James J. Custer, Victor F. Turnquist, David H. Druey, Frank Hickson. It was a great show.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Yankee Prince," one of George Colman's big musical comedy successes, which is to be the week's attraction at the Lowell Opera House beginning with matinee today, is sure of securing one of the biggest hits of the season. Manager Carroll has engaged, at considerable expense, a big professional chorus of pretty girls, who will augment the local cast in its presentation for the week. Patrons will remember the last musical comedy effort by the Emerson All Star Players a few weeks past. At that time the patrons were pleasantly surprised at the wonderfully clever manner in which the engaging company handled their respective parts. Those who are in a position to judge, freely express the belief that the coming attraction will offer even better and bigger opportunity to the players.

Miss Jane Salisbury and Mr. Nea will be found in most congenial roles, and the others will also be found in acceptable parts. Miss Girard Huntington will return to the company, after a two weeks' absence, and her presence will surely be welcomed by all Miss Huntington is extremely popular with the playgoers.

At the matinee performance today the management will give away free to all patrons not less than 1000 coupons, a copy of the words and music of the big song hit "Lovely Mary." The advance sale of tickets for the week has been unusually large. Take heed and make your reservations early and thus avoid disappointment. Tel. 261 and have your name placed on the subscription list. It saves you the trouble and inconvenience of hurrying and scrambling for the ticket office at the eleventh hour.

THE STRAND

"Eye For Eye," starring the superb Nazimova, will be shown at The Strand today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The picture has been taken from the hit play "The Girl in the Red Velvet Gown" written by the noted Belgian author, Henri Kistemaker, and adapted for the screen by June Mathis and Albert Capellani. The story is a thrilling one of Oriental love and hate—depicting the strongest motives in these fiery and passionate people of the east where a human life means nothing in comparison with the traditional inheritance. Nazimova, the beautiful Arabian girl falls in love with a French officer, whom she helps to escape from her tribe. This act brings the wrath of her own people on her head and she is left to die in the blazing desert. The story is one of passionate hate and passionate love, and is more entrancing than any tale ever told. Be sure and see this wonderful actress in this tremendous production.

May Allison, more fascinating than ever, will be seen in an entirely new role in "Her Inspiration," the other stellar feature for the first of the week. It is a delightfully refreshing screen offering and will surely please every one. A Vitaphone comedy, the latest Universal Weekly and a new Chester Outing will help make the bill of the superior type. Don't forget that "The Strand Fashion Show" is coming shortly. Bigger and better than ever.

the east, and one of the most wonderful of mystery plays on the American stage, will open a week's engagement at the B. F. Kerry theatre this afternoon. He is assisted by Princess Olga and Costar Valata. Telephonic and vaudeville acts form the basis of the performance which is mystifying in every detail. The members of the troupe are all Hindus, who have long been acknowledged in their home land as the superior type. Don't forget that all serious, however, for some of the things which happen are productive of good, rich laughter.

Janet Adair is an example of building well before attaining the topmost rung of the entertainment ladder. Miss Adair did not rise to theatrical prominence like a sky rocket; neither will she shine for a brief moment and then fall back to earth. She does an empty rocket. Gradual was the process which took her upward, and now she is classed as a "bill topper." She presents a program of song recitations. She is assisted at the piano by Miss Adelphi.

Larry Kelly, who is sometimes called the new Chauncey Glett and who is one of the few good Irish tenors of the present time, will give his charming "The Play of Old Irish Life known as 'The Minstrel of Kerry,' and which enlists the services of a half a score of most competent actors and actresses. It is an idealistic bit of Kilbranney fantasy, with the scene laid in the year 1800. Mr. Kelly will be seen in the rollicking character of "Rory O'More," "Cadden," "T. B. Laffan," "Ellen," "Grace Allen," "Rory's Mother," Erna Robinson; "Maggie Callahan," Molly O'Shea; "Patricia Boyle," Kathleen DeWitt; and "Tim," a Kerry guide, Tom Gilmore.

Al Shayne is now a vaudeville single, and as such, describes himself as "The Singing Beauty." Of course the title is intended as a burlesque, for while Shayne has many singing qualities, even the wildest stretch of the imagination does not include beauty among them. He can sing and is funny. Authorities say that not since the days of Charley Bigelow has a character comedian had such pliability of facial expression.

Mareoni and Fitzgibbon are a pair of actors who play the xylophone, piano, lot of good music. Fourteen similar actors make up the company known as Gerard's monkeys and monkey shins. The gliding O'Mearas are among the most proficient and versatile dancing teams in vaudeville. This fact was recognized when Bessie Clayton, the queen of the American dance, selected them from among all other dancers to assist her in one of her big productions. They are seen in a modern dance whirlwind.

The week's official Red Cross picture is entitled "Homeward Bound," and the title of the film comedy is "A Kiss There Was." In addition, the Pathé News Picture will be shown at every performance.

The Sun prints the news of the world when it is news and only such news as is fit to print. It is a clean family newspaper.

AUSTRIANS ARE DONE WITH MONARCHIES

VIENNA, Jan. 20 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Return to the monarchical system of government in German Austria is out of the question in the opinion of some of the government leaders here. One high official, who is believed to represent the views of government circles, is quoted as saying that the dynasty had lost nearly all its popularity during the war, while republican ideas had made extraordinary progress even in the most remote parts of the country. Besides, he said, the mass of the people certainly was not inclined to contribute to the cost of maintaining an expensive royal court after the enormous financial sacrifices entailed by a calamitous war.

Vienna is the heart of German Austria, and all that relates to the commerce and prosperity of this part of the old Austrian empire is of burning interest. Government officials point out that the German Austrian industries are in need of raw materials and machinery which only Germany can supply. The paper mills, leather and woodware manufacturers, agricultural machinery and engineering works, especially the electro-technical establishments, have been conducted on a scale to fulfill the requirements of a great empire. The manufacturers now see that their markets will be less extensive than under the empire. It is expected that the Czech-Slovaks, the Poles, the Hungarians and the Jugoslavs will erect customs barriers tending to exclude from these separated countries German Austrian goods. Besides, Austria will have to make formidable Czech competition in Poland and expects to be excluded from competition in the Bohemian market owing to the cheaper cost of living in Bohemia and the proximity of coal supplies there. Apart from the magnetic ores in Styria, German Austria is poor in natural resources, while her stocks of raw materials are said to be more depleted than those of any of the former great nations of Europe.

FEWER ACCIDENTS IN KEYSTONE STATE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—The number of industrial accidents in Pennsylvania has steadily decreased in the last three years. This is attributed to improvements in machinery and the exercise of greater care by workers.

Accidents in the mills, mines and railroads during 1918 resulted in injury to 184,844 employees, of whom 3403 died from their injuries. This total is 43,035 less than the number injured in 1917 and 70,772 less than in 1916. The fatalities of 1918, however, exceeded those of 1917 by 23 and of 1916 by 783.

The fatal accidents records have been affected in the last two years by fires or explosions in munition plants. The amount of workmen's compensation awarded for fatalities and disability claims in 1918 was $10,036,712. In 1917 the total was $7,161,191 and in 1916 $4,221,373.

BIG FIGHT BREWING IN THE LEGISLATURE

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 20.—One of the biggest fights before the present legislature is brewing over the question of permitting private insurance companies to continue in the business of insuring employers of labor against the cost of injuries to their employees, under the provisions of the workmen's compensation act.

Already several bills to exclude the private companies have been filed, and it is probable that the recess committee now considering the matter, and which is to report in about two weeks, will recommend another, although it does not seem likely at present that this committee will recommend the establishment of a "state fund," such as organized labor has demanded for several years. This would mean simply the establishment of a department of the state government, which would handle all of the insurance money and also perform the adjustment work now accomplished so well by the industrial accident board.

One of the most comprehensive of the bills to exclude the private companies provides for the establishment of a monopolistic company, to be managed by seven directors, all of whom would be appointed by the governor, the chairman receiving an annual salary of $10,000 and each of the other members $1000, while there would be a secretary with a salary of $5000 a year. This company would have a main office in Boston and such branch offices as the directors deemed necessary, and would insure every employer in the state. It would appoint inspectors to go into the various manufacturing plants and places of employment, and would be required to cancel the insurance policy of any employer who neglected or refused to carry out any safety regulations ordered by the inspectors.

This plan appears to have the support of Attorney General Atwell, who took occasion in the report he sent to the legislature last week to declare that workmen are not at present adequately assured of their benefits, and to point out that a single company, managed by the state, would not be likely to get into such financial difficulties that it could not meet its obligations.

Many Bills in Hopper

In the legislative hoppers this year there appear to be the usual large number of bills proposing changes in the workmen's compensation act. Several propose to shorten the present ten-day waiting period, most of these providing that compensation shall begin on the eighth day, while two provide that if incapacity continues for twenty-eight days or more, the compensation shall be paid from the day after the injury.

There is one bill to increase the maximum payment under the act from $14 to $18 per week, while another wipes out the maximum entirely, providing that each injured employee shall receive two-thirds of his usual wage. This bill, singularly enough, proposes that the minimum payment shall be reduced from $5 to $4 per week.

Other interesting changes proposed in the act are the following: That failure of an employer to give notice of his injury shall not bar his claim, unless it appears that the failure to give notice worked to the detriment of the insurance company; that children living apart from a deceased parent shall receive the benefits accruing because of his death, provided there was upon the parent legal obligation to support the children; that parents of a deceased employee shall be eligible to receive benefits for his death if there are no other dependents; that appeals from decisions of the industrial accident board shall be taken directly to the supreme court, instead of to the superior court; that the salary of each member of the industrial accident board, and of Secretary Robert E. Grandfield, be increased by $1000, giving the chairman $5500, the other members $4500 and Grandfield $5000.

Catholic Women's Meeting

committee, and Sept. Hugh J. Molloy of the school department.

The dominant note of the addresses of all the speakers was the necessity for co-operation if anything of value is to be accomplished in the line of Americanization work in this city. The necessity and wisdom of placing the teaching of English to immigrants in the hands of the school department was also brought out. Mr. Molloy will soon start a teachers' class at the State Normal school and Mr. Molloy is planning a thoroughly organized plan to teach English to newcomers to the country.

Miss Margaret McCuskey, chairman of the social service committee of the league, made a report of the work of the committee as well as recommendations for future activity.

Mrs. James H. Carmichael presided at the meeting and before introducing the speakers of the afternoon made an appeal for help at the Red Cross headquarters.

Americanization Most Important

Miss Mogan was introduced and in opening she said that there is no more important problem confronting us than that of Americanization. "The war," she said, showed the fusion of races which we had talked so much about, had not really taken place. The ideal of Americanization is to help our new brothers and sisters realize their dreams and make their ideals a practical basis of life in this country.

The speaker then said that the work of Americanization should center in the public school and that the time was coming when enormous sums of money will be spent on educating the adult as well as the child. In regard to women immigrants, she said: "You are taking on the work of Americanization, to supplement what is already being done. I want especially to speak to you of what you can do for the woman immigrant. Those of us who are in school work, realize that we are not educating adequately the children of the home where no English is spoken. The foreign mother, as well as the foreign father, resents strenuously the law that requires that the child must be kept in school until he is 14. They see no reason why that should be so, especially in these days of higher wages for young people. They watch the clock for the time to arrive when the child can go to work. They do not get our point of view at all. While the husband is obliged to acquire some English in his industrial life and children acquire it in school, the mother has no opportunity to learn to speak the language, and the family is thus growing away from her. It is very sad. You will find many women who have no desire to learn, but encouragement, tact, the right method by the right teacher, will bring these women into a class in which they will gain a great deal."

How Women Can Help

"In your attempt to help conditions, you are going to do some organized, well planned work. I fear that you have an Americanization committee. I am very glad of that. That is very important—a committee that will really understand the problem, make a study of it in all its phases, and be willing to devote time and energy to it. That is very important. One of the things to do is to find out where the classes already established are, then bringing the knowledge of those classes, and their aims, to the foreign women. There are ways of coming in contact with them which you will find most interesting. It must not be done in a spirit of Lady Bountiful, in a patronizing way. There should be some one on the committee delegated to look up the different racial groups in the city. Then they should be informed of the progress and invited to go to the classes. If there are not enough teachers for the classes, perhaps you will be willing to pay teachers. Other clubs are doing that. In Boston, over 40 classes of women are now taught by teachers paid for by a certain woman's club."

"There is one thing extremely important if this is done—something that you must not forget. Volunteer teachers are very well, if these teachers are properly trained. This teaching of foreign-speaking adults is a very important, highly specialized piece of professional work. Not every good day school teacher is successful in this work. It requires a certain mental equipment, and a certain kind of temperament, and it requires training. The reason we have so much Americanization to do now is because there have been so many mistakes made in the past. Careful training is necessary. I should advise very strongly, if you have in mind the forming of classes taught by paid or volunteer workers, that you insist that these workers take the course that I understand is to be given very soon at your Normal school. But this is not enough. Nothing ever runs itself, unless it is running down hill. Constant supervision is necessary, keeping classes up to the highest standard, talking over difficulties which will surely arise. I should advise your constant co-operation with the Americanization committee which has been formed here in Lowell."

"Women of this country always, under the country's need, have responded nobly. You are going to engage in this great work of Americanization. Plan it carefully, keep it up to a high standard, have faith in it and enthusiasm for it. Above all, persevere in it in spite of difficulties. Then you can look forward confidently to success."

Chairman John J. Mahoney

Chairman Mahoney was introduced and he said that many people were looking upon Americanization as a fad and that very few were talking the matter straight from the shoulder. He said that the failure of the movement was due to the lack of co-operation.

He defined Americanization as taking the immigrant into our American life, teaching him our ideals and our point of view. The first step which should be concentrated upon just now is the teaching of English to the adult people of the city. He asked that the matter of teaching English be under the supervision of the public schools so that it might be done efficiently. The women of the league, he said, had a very good opportunity for organization work among the immigrant women, as Miss Mogan had pointed out, and they should make the most of it.

Supt. Hugh J. Molloy

Supt. Molloy said that the teaching of English was an important factor in Americanization but it was not everything. The affection of the immigrant for his homeland must be capitalized, not detached, he said. The chief thing is to break down the barrier of misunderstanding, and he believed the public school was the only comprehensive agency which could do this satisfactorily.

Rev. Timothy P. Callahan, chaplain of the league, spoke briefly in commendation of the work already done and favored the recommendations for social service work as outlined by Miss McCuskey.

Later an opportunity for those who wished to take the teachers' course in English at the Normal school to sign up was given and a large number took advantage of it.

DANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL HALL

Added features at the weekly dance on Saturday night, at the high school hall, were enjoyed by the large number of young people present, and the War Camp Community Service feels certain that it was the most successful of all the dances held thus far.

The floor had been polished during the week by Michael Lynch and this made the dancing much easier. In the corridors the dancing lessons were held as usual, and before the close of the evening many of the pupils in khaki and dark blue ventured forth to participate in the fun.

Shortly after 9 o'clock a "sing" was conducted by Albert Edmund Brown and the patriotic and popular songs were sung by a loud chorus of voices.

Arthur Levesque, a Lowell boy, who has just recently been discharged from the navy, rendered a solo, "The Rose of No Man's Land," and also gave several eccentric dances.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, sideache, headaches or "the blues" should not rest until they have given this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LOWELL ENTERTAINERS AT CAMP DEVENS

The Lowell war camp entertainers, an organization composed of various units such as the Jolly club and a number of individual young men and women of talent, entertained at Camp Devens yesterday under the auspices of the Lowell war camp community service. Mr. Frank J. Lambert directed and Mr. William Richards was pianist.

In the afternoon they entertained in a most delightful manner the patients at the base hospital, and the evening entertainers performed at the K. of C. hall. Before a very large and appreciative audience and later they in turn were entertained at luncheon by K. company, 7th Infantry, the menu, which was of the most appetizing kind, having been prepared by Mess Sergeant Ben Billott.

The affair was organized under the auspices of the Lowell war camp community service and proved one of the most successful in a long time. The returned soldiers was given by May-Perry D. Thompson.

Mr. Pouzner, assisted by Mrs. Frederick Weid and Mrs. Clive Hockmeyer, has not relaxed in his endeavor to provide social affairs for the men in service, and the success of the affair on Saturday night is due to the untiring efforts made by this committee.

The patronesses were: Mrs. J. A. Hummel, Mrs. F. B. Kenney, Miss Cora Backlund, Miss Catherine Gaber, Mrs. W. S. Jessop, Mrs. F. L. Weaver, Mrs. H. Hutchinson Parker, Mrs. L. E. MacBryne, Miss Mary Brennan, and Mrs. E. F. Saunders.

RATIFICATION RALLY AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

A ratification rally was held yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's M.E. church, by the Methodist churches, and was very largely attended by clergymen and members from other churches. Rev. William P. English, Jr., as president of the Federation of Churches, was in charge of the meetings, and introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Congressman Robert Luce. The speaker outlined the progress of the anti-liquor movement, whose final efforts had culminated in the recent victory. He emphasized the point that during the past twenty years of campaign, the laws of economics, which are the laws of nature, and laws of sound common sense, were behind the work done on Jan. 16, 1919, when the legislature of 38 states ratified the constitutional amendment forbidding the manufacture, transportation or sale of liquor in the United States.

Dr. Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was stated to have been the real founder of the movement to suppress the sale of intoxicating liquor in this country. Although there was no organized movement, the speaker said that in 1830 throughout New England there were booths outside the churches and the preachers often indulged in the drinking of ale as refreshment. A revolution was started against this custom and after some years it was abolished. This government, at the time of the emancipation of the African slave trade, also sanctioned another slavery, when it allowed the shipping of rum made in New England, to the negroes. The first direct attack against the sale of liquors came in 1825, but very little developed, until the year 1840, when John B. Gough, a reformed inebriate, through public speaking, aroused much enthusiasm, and stands out as a great worker in the cause.

Later General N. S. Dow, a practical reformer, came forward and to him is due a great deal of the credit for aiding the state of Maine to exclude the sale and manufacture of all liquors. General Dow began his course to make the state of Maine dry, in 1851, and although ridiculed, he persisted in his endeavors and for many years the people of that state have clung to the belief that they were happier, better in health, spiritually better, in fact, better in every way, under prohibition than they ever had been during the previous regime of liquor selling.

The speaker closed by saying that the education in economics has developed to the stage where men have changed their viewpoint, and regard the matter from a reasonable standpoint, some calling it economic sense, others just common-sense. It was the growth of common sense, which brought the victory over liquor and which has been achieved within the past two weeks.

Jolly Five had been requested to prepare a minstrel show of some kind for the entertainment of the soldiers and they cheerfully responded to the invitation and in an endeavor to give the men in khaki the best ever, they took along with them about 50 of the best talent of this city, the trip to the camp being made in a large automobile truck graciously furnished by F. H. Hatch & Co., the operator of the machine being Edward Monty.

Upon arriving at the camp the entertainers repaired to the base hospital, where a minstrel show of the best variety was given. The ends were: Romeo St. George, G. Merritt, Joseph Tessler and Nancy Swift, and their work was very commendable. One of the features of the show was a tableau in which the following participated: Mildred E. Beal, Red Cross nurse; Private R. H. Strauss, American soldier and William Hodges, U.S.N., sailor. The program included the following numbers: Piano and banjo selections, Grace, Lillian and Anna Ecklund; selection of Jolly Five vocal selections, Mrs. Wilfrid J. Richards, Miss Nancy Swift; Scotch dances, Mrs. Crockett and Miss McLean. The inter-entertainer was Frank J. Lambert, while the musical director was Wilfrid J. Richards. The organizers of the event were Mrs. Nellie Blaisdell, Miss Maude Sharp, Miss Florence Firth and Miss Mildred Beal.

At the close of the entertainment at the base hospital, the victors repaired to the K. of C. hall, where they were received by Secretary O'Brien, and there they repeated their program to a large attendance of soldiers. Later they were entertained at luncheon at the quarters of Company K, 7th Infantry. The Lowell talent were warmly complimented for the success obtained and they were informed that the group of talent was the greatest in number to visit Camp Devens from Lowell for a long time.

The program of entertainment given by Lowell talent was as follows: Solo, The Soldier and the Man, Peaches Down in Georgia, Solo, Believe Me Dear, I'm Sorry I Made You Cry, Scotch Dances, Miss Crockett and Miss MacLean, Rose of No Man's Land, Arthur Levesque, Piano solo, Miss Atkinson. Reading, Miss Kenney, Jaspars' Ball, Romeo St. George, Dear Little Boy of Mine, Mrs. W. J. Richards, Quartet, Celebrating Day in Tennessee, Edward Couty and Quartet, Banjo, mandolin and piano, Ecklund Sisters, Brass Solo, Alfred Paquette, Solo, Kisses, Miss Nancy Swift, After You're Gone, George Merritt, Medley quarter, Jolly Club, Uncle Joe, The Octet, Finale, Good-bye Alexander and a Medley of Songs.

BANANA CUTTERS ON STRIKE IN PANAMA

PANAMA, Sunday, Jan. 12.—A despatch to the Panama Star-Herald from Bocas del Toro says that laborers on the plantation of the United Fruit company have struck. They demand five cents a bunch for cutting bananas, while the company is reported to be paying them only four cents. It is asserted that the men work only two or three days a week because of lack of ships to carry the fruit and their earnings are less than ten dollars weekly.

The despatch adds that strikers have burned one commissary and that there have been other instances of sabotage.

FAREWELL BANQUET

A farewell banquet by 30 of the government night-shifting force of the U. S. Cartridge Co. was held at the Hotel Richardson Saturday evening, covers being laid for 40 and after the supper a fine entertainment was rendered, opening with the "Star Spangled Banner," with our friend from the leading department, Nester Hebert at the piano, Joseph L. Wren, testmaster of the evening, rendered his part well with the assistance of O. Merrier and William McCreadie. Other numbers included a song by H. Pion, song and juggling, E. Vennard, Jr.; reading, Walter Lyons; piano selection, Nester Hebert; remarks by our foreman, Thomas W. Vennard. Scotch songs were given by our aid and worthy friend, Wm. McCreadie, better known as Scottie. There was a sketch given by No. 2, 4 and 5 table, entitled "Who Got Mike People's Goat." It was a race between Jim Thompson and Slim of No. 3, but Walter Brown wanted to find out who got all the shells; comic song and dance, P. Vennard, Sr., and P. Vennard, Jr.; sketch of a tramp by N. Hebert. Witty Jewish jokes, Mike People; Irish wit-cisms by Tim Kane. Tim Vennard wanted to know what Scottie will do without an office. The banquet hall was nicely decorated, thanks to the steward, Mr. R. Rolt. The party broke up at the wee wee hours of the morning by singing "Auld Lang Syne." The committee in charge included William McCreadie, O. Merrier and Mr. Chamberlain.

Bulletin From War Work Headquarters

119 MERRIMACK ST. Telephone 5923

The records of the soldiers going into the service and the gathering together of this information was entrusted to the Information Bureau at the War Work Headquarters. While the public of Lowell may not know and do not know everything, we wish to say that this record has been compiled and is being compiled, and we have received valuable information from the Red Cross, from the Lowell Social Service League, from the Adjutant General's Office, from local papers, to say nothing of that received from the families and relatives, till the list now covers more than five thousand names, including those in the British and Canadian service. This list has been and is in continual use.

The special reason for this notice is to ask all concerned to report the return from service of every soldier or sailor at City Hall, to the City Clerk, who is keeping the record and passing it on to us. Both of these lists are absolutely necessary so that Lowell may give proper recognition and fitting receptions to each and all who have donned the uniform.

No one should hold his name back for any reason. He may be only a unit, but the different units help to make the whole, and it is to the spirit of the whole, respect to the uniform, which the Lowell public wishes to give recognition. There must be no false modesty. Every one, as friends and relatives who have their right and pride, and Lowell itself should have the credit for every man who has gone forth, for every man who has paid the supreme sacrifice, for every man who has done his bit, for every man who has returned. We make this appeal so that full record may be completed.

Authorities May Act on Suggestion To Open Conta-

Mayor Says It Is up to Board of Health—More
Cases Reported

Mayor Perry D. Thompson stated this afternoon that he was ready to open the contagious hospital in the minute that the board of health deemed it advisable to do so as a precautionary measure against the further spread of influenza in Lowell.

Dr. Pierre Brunelle, chairman of the board of health, when questioned on the advisability of opening the hospital buildings in Varnum avenue, said that "the sooner the hospital is opened the better." The one detriment, he says, is the immediate opening is the non-completion of the Varnum avenue sewer.

Mayor Thompson said that the hospital buildings had not yet been formally turned over to the city by Architect Henry L. Bourke, but that Mr. Bourke had promised to do so by Wednesday of this week. At that time the buildings will belong to the city and the city can do whatever it wants with them.

Influenza continued on the increase today with a total of 41 cases reported during Sunday and today up to noon.
Doctors say that there is a large amount of sickness throughout the city due to either influenza or its allied disease, pneumonia. It is next to impossible to secure a nurse and the hospitals are again reaching their capacities.

A meeting of the staff of doctors of St. John's hospital was scheduled for this afternoon to take action on the advisability of opening the hospital buildings for the purpose of treating influenza patients.

A temporary sewer arrangement was installed at the new hospital last fall when the epidemic was raging and no doubt this could be used again if the authorities decide to reopen the buildings. The matter now rests entirely in the hands of the board of health.

NEW RULE FOR GERMANY

Governmental Plan Announced Shows Word "Imperial" Dies Hard Indeed

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Details of the proposed new constitution for Germany drawn up recently at a conference of authorities on constitutional law, including Hugo Preuss, state secretary of the interior of the Ebert government, are given in an official wireless dispatch sent out from Berlin and picked up here. It states that the empire is to consist of its former component states, besides any territories which, by virtue of the right of self-determination, desire to be received into the empire.

The dispatch declares that the people have the right, regardless of former frontiers, to erect new free states within the empire, providing any such free state has a population of two million. If the people of a border country wish to join the German empire, the assent of the German people shall be required.

The imperial president, who is to be elected by the people, must be 35 years of age and must have been a citizen of Germany for ten years before his election. He will be elected by an absolute majority of all the votes of the empire. He will represent the empire, but declarations of war or conclusions of peace rest with the reichstag.
Treaties with foreign states require the assent of the reichstag. As soon as a league of nations, the object of which is the exclusion of secret treaties, has been formed, all treaties with the league shall require the assent of the reichstag.

The imperial president's tenure of office will be for seven years and his re-election will be permissible.

The imperial government will be composed of a chancellor and ministers who will be chosen by the president or the reichstag. The government must have the confidence of the house of deputies and shall be responsible to the reichstag.

The municipal government of Great-Britain has protested to the Ebert cabinet against the proposal to revive the national assembly elsewhere than in Berlin. According to the Tagblatt the cabinet has not decided on the place the assembly shall meet.

BERLIN EAGERLY TAKES TO VOTING

Hand Bills Bestrew Capital
For First Time Citizens
Can Remember

Thousands of Men and Women in Line For Hours Waiting Turn at Boxes

BERLIN, Sunday, Jan. 19.—By the Associated Press.—The streets of Berlin today were virtually buried under a deluge of election doggers, handbills and leaflets, while the fronts of houses and handy windows were plastered with huge posters hung up by campaign workers during the morning, frequently without the knowledge of proprietors.

The spectacle was one wholly new to Berlin. The distribution of handbills is ordinarily severely restricted by police regulations. Today, however, the house and shop fronts on Unter den Linden were one continuous billboard appeal to the voters. The much-advertised paper shortage, with which the publishers have been forced to contend, hardly appeared to be an actuality in the light of the mass of campaign literature with which Berlin has literally been choked for the past few days. The majority socialists alone are reported to have distributed thirty million doggers, in addition to wallpapering the city with myriads of posters.

The entire apparatus of the government was set in motion for the majority socialist campaign, which was basically the most effective of any carried on for today's historic election of members of the national assembly. In addition to having the strategic advantage of governmental control, the Socialist party was more adept at campaigning than the bourgeois factions, to whom the game under present conditions was somewhat new.

The independent socialists confined their attempts at vote-getting to public meetings. The German democratic party, however, was liberally represented among the handbills and posters, and in addition it carried on an active house-to-house canvass. The conservatives, the clericals and the national liberals proved themselves comparative tyros in campaigning methods, relying chiefly on the party newspaper organs.

It is estimated that no less than seven divisions of troops were placed at the disposal of the government for the purpose of protecting the polling places. A machine gun squad was in position within a hundred feet of each voting place, while strong military patrols were also on guard. The voters everywhere turned out early and the rush to the polls resulted in the formation of long lines of men and women awaiting their turn to vote.

CLAIM FIGHTERS AIDED
BY 8 HOUR DAY

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—The general committee of the Textile Workers issued a statement today in which it said that a 48 hour week in the textile industry would provide work for all who wanted to work, including the returning soldiers, whereas a continuance of the present 54 hour schedule would force many into idleness because there was not enough work to be done.

Resolutions were sent the mill men protesting against the action of the American Woolen company in attempting to arrange meetings between the employees and the agents of each of its mills. The workers contend that such meetings would not be fair to them because of the influence the employers could exert on their own employees.

ONLY NURSES SAW LITTLE
PRINCE JOHN DIE

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Via Montreal.—
The death of Prince John, youngest son of King George, came so quickly and unexpectedly Saturday night that there was no time for the nurses who were with him to summon the king and Queen Mary to his bedside before he expired.

In recent years the delicate health of Prince John made it necessary that he always have an attendant.
Consequently he was never seen on public occasions with the other members of the royal family, but lived in comparative privacy at Frogmore House, Windsor, or at Sandringham Palace.

The London newspapers point out how the king and queen have sought unceasingly during the war time to bury the tragedy of their youngest son's delicate health in the silence of their hearts, never hinting to the nation the nature of the personal anxieties weighing upon them. Public sympathy was expressed for the royal couple yesterday in all the churches.

Lincoln Street Woman Killed
By Husband's Uncle

George Shields Fires Four Shots Into Body of Mrs.
Rose Traynor—Murderer Still at Large—Cause of Murder Unknown to Police—Alleged That Mur-
derer Had Been Drinking

Mrs. Rose Traynor, of 102 Lincoln street, was shot by George Shields, an uncle of her husband, at her home about 11:40 this morning and died a short time later while on her way to St. John's hospital.

The reason for the shooting has not yet been ascertained. The ambulance was called to the scene and it was found that four shots had been fired in the woman's body, one through her left breast and three through her right hip.

The police and Medical Examiner Dr. T. B. Smith were called to the case and at the time of going to press
Dr. Smith had not completed his examination.

Mrs. Traynor was 24 years of age and was born at Eastport, Me. She was first married to Fred Beach from whom she was divorced at Calais, Me., about two years ago. When she obtained her divorce she was also granted custody of her two minor children, who made their home with their mother in this city.

The young woman was married to Mr. Traynor in this city about 11 months ago and since that time was making her home at 102 Lincoln st.
The couple were visited today by George Shields, a paver in the employ of the street department, who resides at 3 Goward's court. It is claimed that Shields was a drinking man and when under the influence of liquor he was very abusive toward Mrs. Traynor, and it is also alleged that he had threatened her on several occasions.

Made Many Threats

Mrs. Esther Clark, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Traynor, who came from Eastport, Me., to spend the winter with the latter, stated this afternoon that Shields had threatened Mrs. Traynor with bodily harm on several occasions and that the last time he called at the Traynor home prior to this morning was threatening day, at which time she claimed he drew a revolver out of his pocket while in an argument with Mrs. Traynor.

Mrs. Clark stated this afternoon that this morning Shields called at the

Traynor home and was very abusive in his talk towards Mrs. Traynor. At that time Mrs. Clark said he was under the influence of liquor. He left the house shortly after 10 o'clock and returned at about 11 o'clock, coming from the direction of Goward street.
As he was going toward the Traynor home Mrs. Traynor and Mrs. Clark were just stepping out of the house.
Shields, so it is claimed, approached Mrs. Traynor and started talking to her. He made several remarks concerning the woman's character, and then said he had come to square up things.

Fired Four Shots

Mrs. Clark then entered the building followed by Mrs. Traynor and Shields. After entering the hall Mrs.
Clark opened the kitchen door and stepped inside the tenement. A few seconds later she heard four revolver shots and rushing in the hall found Mrs. Traynor lying on her back near the door. At that time Shields was standing in the door, but he quickly disappeared. A hurried call was sent for the ambulance and when the ambulance driver entered the building he found Mrs. Traynor lying in a pool of blood in the hall. The woman was rushed to St. John's hospital, but she died before the institution was reached and her body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. P.
O'Donnell & Sons, where it was viewed later by Medical Examiner T. B.
Smith, who found four bullet wounds, one in the left breast and three in the right hip. The bullets were from a 32-calibre revolver.

The building in which the shooting occurred is a three-tenement house, the lower tenement being occupied by the Traynor family. Elmer Lord, an 8-year old boy residing above the Traynor people, is believed to be the only eye witness of the shooting. The little fellow claims the first shot was fired by Shields on the steps of the building, while Mrs.
Traynor was trying to close the door.
He said he saw Shields follow Mrs.
Traynor inside the hall, where three more shots were fired.

After firing the shots Shields started to run through Lincoln street towards Goward street, carrying the revolver in his right hand. When a spot was reached along Hale's brook between the Traynor home and Tanner street, he threw the revolver, but the weapon struck a limb and bounced back in the road. He quickly picked up the weapon and threw it across the brook and into the field.

The throwing of the revolver was witnessed by Alexander Arlinsky of 62 Lincoln street and Elmer Lord, who followed the murderer after the shooting occurred. It is claimed that while Shields was making his escape he was being followed by Hyman Keth of 102 Lincoln street, a neighbor of the Traynor people, who was in his home when the shooting occurred and who was attracted to the outside by the revolver shots. He gave chase, but Shields proved too fast for him, for he lost track of Shields when the railroad tracks were reached at the junction of Tanner street.

Shields was still at large at the time of going to press.

Next Attorney General To Be
Sherman Whipple, Friend
of Justice Brandeis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Sherman L.
Whipple of Boston will be the next
attorney-general of the United States.
He will succeed Thomas Watt Gregory,
whose resignation has been accepted by the president, to take effect March 1.

Nearly three years ago Mr. Whipple was mentioned as a possible appointee
to the United States supreme court instead of Mr. Brandeis. Mr. Whipple was a staunch supporter of Mr. Brandeis for the appointment and submitted his views to the senate judiciary committee when the confirmation of Mr. Brandeis was held up by that organization.

During the winter of 1916 and 1917
Mr. Whipple was selected by the house committee on rules when it investigated the alleged White House Wall St.
leak.

It is expected that Mr. Whipple's nomination will be cable sent by President Wilson for submission to the senate. This will admit of the present senate considering Mr. Whipple's name
and effecting the confirmation before conclusion of the final session of the democratic congress.

1000 BACK AT WORK

Pittsfield's Million Dollar
Strike at an End

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 20.—The general
Electric strike here ended last night,
when the unions voted unanimously
to accept an agreement reached yesterday between General Manager
Cummings C. Chesney of the company and the 1000 strikers still unemployed, for whom some sort of work will be provided on or before
Jan. 27.

The committee on appeal appointed
under the national war labor board decree of last year came to an understanding with Mr. Chesney and reported back to the unions.

About 350 operatives will be taken
back today, including strike leaders
David L. Kevlin and Thomas F. Murray, and others will go in as fast as jobs can be provided for them. Orders and manufacturing conditions
will determine whether they will remain permanently. Examiner Jones
of the national war labor board was due to arrive at Pittsfield last night.

HUB MAN IN CABINET

Next Attorney General To Be
Sherman Whipple, Friend
of Justice Brandeis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Sherman L.
Whipple of Boston will be the next
attorney-general of the United States.
He will succeed Thomas Watt Gregory,
whose resignation has been accepted by
the president, to take effect March 1.

Nearly three years ago Mr. Whipple
was mentioned as a possible appointee
to the United States supreme court instead of Mr. Brandeis. Mr. Whipple
was a staunch supporter of Mr. Brandeis for the appointment and submitted his views to the senate judiciary committee when the confirmation of
Mr. Brandeis was held up by that organization.

During the winter of 1916 and 1917
Mr. Whipple was selected by the house
committee on rules when it investigated the alleged White House Wall St.
leak.

It is expected that Mr. Whipple's nomination will be cable sent by President Wilson for submission to the senate. This will admit of the present
senate considering Mr. Whipple's name
and effecting the confirmation before conclusion of the final session of the democratic congress.

1000 BACK AT WORK

Pittsfield's Million Dollar
Strike at an End

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 20.—The general
Electric strike here ended last night,
when the unions voted unanimously
to accept an agreement reached yesterday between General Manager
Cummings C. Chesney of the company and the 1000 strikers still unemployed, for whom some sort of work will be provided on or before
Jan. 27.

The committee on appeal appointed
under the national war labor board
decree of last year came to an understanding with Mr. Chesney and
reported back to the unions.

About 350 operatives will be taken
back today, including strike leaders
David L. Kevlin and Thomas F. Murray, and others will go in as fast as jobs can be provided for them. Orders and manufacturing conditions
will determine whether they will remain permanently. Examiner Jones
of the national war labor board was due to arrive at Pittsfield last night.

The strike of 4000 employees began Dec. 20 and has cost both sides approximately $1,000,000.

Peace Congress Delegates
Hear Report From Diplo-

Neutrals Grumbling That They Should Be Allowed To Help Plan League

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The situation in Russia was taken up by the supreme council of the peace conference today. Joseph Noulens, the French ambassador to Russia, addressed the meeting on the Russian question.

This announcement was made in the official statement regarding the proceedings. The next meeting will be tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock. The official communiqué follows:

"The president of the United States of America and the prime ministers and foreign ministers of the allied governments, assisted by Baron Makino and the Japanese ambassador in Paris, met at the Quai d'Orsay this morning between 10:30 and 12 o'clock. M. Noulens, the French ambassador to Russia, who returned a few days ago from Archangel, addressed the meeting and gave particulars of the situation in Russia.

"The next meeting will take place on Tuesday at 10:30 o'clock in the morning to hear the remarks of M.
Savenius, the Danish minister in Petrograd, who left the Russian capital very recently."

The decision that the league of nations will be outlined and organized by the belligerents alone is understood to be the cause of some dissatisfaction among the neutrals who already are informally discussing the matter among themselves.
Whether any formal action will be taken by the neutrals to voice their protest is not yet known, but among some of them there is said to be a feeling that it would be neither fair nor dignified that they be afterwards asked to subscribe to a covenant in which making they had no part.

Neutrals Grumble

The neutrals, it is understood, do not claim participation in the discussion of peace terms, because they took no part in the war, but they contend that a league of nations is an international institution independent of the war and that, therefore, no distinction should be made between belligerents and non-belligerents. It is also pointed out that among the neutrals there were several countries whose anti-German feelings were as strong as among the allies, but owing to geographical positions and other factors they were forced to remain neutral.

Pittsfield's Attend

Arthur J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, was accompanied to the meeting by Lord Robert Cecil, who was especially in charge of the subject of a league of nations on behalf of Great Britain. Baron Nobuaki Makino, chief of the Japanese mission, attended the council for the first time, representing Japan together with Baron Matsui, the ambassador to France.

Lord Robert Cecil remained at the foreign office, where the meeting was held, for only a few moments and did not enter the council chamber where the session today was an executive one.

An official communiqué was expected at the close of the meeting. It was believed that the exchange of information between the governments on the situation in Russia, forecast in one of last week's communiqués, would take place.

The council as it met today comprised ten members—two from each of the five great powers—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing representing the United States. The three additional members from each power did not attend, as full meetings of the membership of 25 are only assembled when subjects of special importance are under consideration.

MURDERED TWO WOMEN

Haverhill Tragedy Uncovers

Sordid Story of Lust, Laziness and Crime

HAVERHILL, Jan. 20.—In a fit of despondency last night, Joseph E. Danforth, a wood bevelworker, killed his wife, Mrs. Marie Danforth, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Allen Graham, aged 47 years, in their tenement on the first floor of the three-story dwelling, 7 View street. Both women were unmercifully beaten with an axe, and Danforth in his rage had used a knife, station and various other kitchen utensils that came to his hand.

In addition he had tried to strangle both of his life children. Just why he did this the police have not been able to learn, but they believe that he intended to do away with them as well as his wife and Mrs. Graham.

Danforth told the police that his father died a few years ago in an English insane hospital and they think that he is mentally irresponsible. He said that he had been out of work for some time and that there was nothing in the house to eat and he had grown enraged because of the manner in which they nagged him about not securing work.

It was from Danforth that the police first learned of the double tragedy. He walked into the station house shortly before midnight and told the officer in charge that he had just killed two persons. He appeared rational and the officer thought for a moment that the visitor was joking.

Slayer Tells of Crime

Danforth sat down and unfolded the story of the killing that proved startling from the cool manner in which he related it. He said that while he was engaged in the work of slaughter he was unable to control himself, but that when it was all over he had quieted and was willing to tell all and stand the consequences.

Officers were rushed to the house and a terrible scene met their gaze. Mrs. Graham was lying in bed with her head crushed in from successive blows of an ax, and Mrs. Danforth's body was found in the kitchen, where she had dragged herself from the bed in which she had been lying with her mother. It was in the kitchen that she revealed the blows that finally ended her life. Not alone had she been hit with the ax, but the infuriated man had struck her on the head with a hairpin and had also used a poker and several other household articles to beat out her life. Mrs. Graham's throat was also cut with an old bread knife.

Children Were Tied

Two of the three children of the household were in a rear bedroom where they had been secretly tied hand and foot. They had been awakened by the screams of the women, but were unable to get out of bed. The third child, an infant of 6 months, was still in bed with a nursing bottle by its side, lying close by the body of its grandmother.

The children, Lawrence, aged 4, and Dorris, aged 2, that were tied, were released by the police and with the infant they were taken to the city farm.

The medical examiner was summoned and a careful survey of the premises was conducted under his supervision.

Triangle Affair

Danforth told the police the story of his associations with Mrs. Graham and his wife, Mrs. Danforth's daughter. He said that he came to this city from England with Mrs. Graham in 1911, believing that she was an unmarried woman. He said he intended to marry her in this country and was disappointed when he found that she was already married.

They continued to live together and three years later Mrs. Graham's daughter, Minnie, came to this country and went to live with them.

It appears that his affections shifted from Mrs. Graham to the daughter, but the older woman made no objections. On Jan. 11, less than a month ago, Danforth and the young woman were married by Rev. Silas S. Morse, but previous to this she bore him three illegitimate children. He said that the oldest of the three was born in England, where he had sent her with $300 he drew out of the bank. When the child was born there she returned, and it was given out that the child had been adopted. Since then the other two children were born. Danforth was arraigned in court this morning charged with murder.

FIND HUNS' DEATH SHOP

British Stumble Into Factory

Where Enemy Made "Booby Trap"

LONDON, January. (—Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Detection by British army investigators of German "booby-traps" saved the lives of many an officer or man of the British armies during the period when the Germans were retreating from France. "That we captured many of the Hun's favorite plans by capturing near Bray a little factory where he made his booby-traps. When we occupied it we learned much from the partly completed traps we found lying about the place."

"One of them was an iron plate. This the Hun had dropped in a roadway so that it would likely be trod upon by a soldier or horse of our advancing troops. The plate was in two parts, with a spring inside, and usually contained a detonator connected with a heavy charge of explosive. When the weight of the foot was removed, the spring sprang into place and exploded the detonator, and the damage was done."

"These spring detonators were the Germans' specialty. They consisted of a tube containing a little spring with a hook at one end. Attached to the hook was a string or wire connecting with the explosive charge. Any arrangement by which the spring could be distended and then suddenly contracted served to jerk the string, and the charge was exploded."

"One night I received a call from our lieutenant colonel who had spent the day directing movements from a recently captured German dugout. He told me he was nervous and believed he was associating with a 'booby,' and asked me to send him a squad of engineers to look it over. I went myself."

"The colonel sat in the dugout about ten feet down, on a chair by a table. Directly in front of the chair was a petrol can and it was the can he feared. He had noticed it early in the morning, but had been so busy during the day he had had no time to examine it until evening. Then he found nothing, but he had a 'hunch' that it was a trap and wanted expert assistance."

"I dug a little trench around the can, but could find no wires, and then tapped it, but received no sound other than that which might come from any old empty can. There was nothing to do but open it, and borrowing the colonel's can-opener I went at it as gingerly as I could."

"It was partly filled with about eight pounds of one of the most deadly powder explosives known to science. This I removed very carefully, and in the bottom of the can I found the spring detonator. It had been fastened to the bottom of the can in such a way that if the can had been lifted from the floor of the dugout the charge would have exploded and the colonel and his party would have been blown to bits."

"The colonel paled a little when I showed him just what he had been associating with all day, and very fervently thanked himself for obeying his 'hunch' to let that can alone."

DR. HARRINGTON DEAD

Former Lowell Man Dies

From Ptomaine—Was High in Medical Profession

Dr. Thomas Francis Harrington, deputy health commissioner of Massachusetts, a native of Lowell, died yesterday morning at his home, 310 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, of ptomaine poisoning after an illness of five weeks.

For the past 12 years Dr. Harrington had been a resident of Boston, but previous to that time he had always lived in this city where he was born June 10, 1856.

The reputation of the Lowell man was known throughout the eastern part of the country and his contributions to matters of public health and his conspicuous work in important medical fields had made him one of the foremost men in the medical profession of his time.

Especially valuable were his contributions to the physical welfare of school children. He originated the idea of a floating hospital and the wetting down of congested districts in the summer months. He was also the originator of the "Health day" in the Boston schools where he held the position of supervisor of school hygiene from 1907 to 1915.

Dr. Harrington was the son of Thomas and Mary H. Harrington. He began life as a newsboy in this city and for a time worked in the local mills. He received his early education in the public schools and was graduated from the Lowell high school in 1885. He was major of the school battalion. In 1888 he entered Harvard Medical school and shortly after his graduation became widely known to Harvard men by his "History of the Harvard Medical School."

Before assuming the active practice of his profession, Dr. Harrington studied abroad at the Rotunda hospital, Dublin, as well as in London, Paris and Vienna. He returned to Lowell and opened his office in the Five Cent Savings bank building. From the very start he proved himself as an active and progressive member of the profession. He was chosen a member of the local board of health and one of his earliest achievements was the inauguration here for the first time in the history of the floating hospital plan by chartering a steamer on Merrimack river and taking sick children for a day and night cruise away from the city's heat. Another plan he introduced was that of flooding the streets of the tenement districts during the hot weather. This brought such good results that it was adopted by many parts of the country.

While he remained in this city he was a visiting physician at St. John's hospital and for three years was consulting physician there. In 1894 he was made secretary of the United States pension board and filled the duties of examining surgeon of that body. In 1907 he was asked by James J. Storrow, then chairman of the Boston school committee, to accept the position of supervisor of school hygiene in that city and his election was unanimously carried. Two years later he was elected president of the Boston Playground association and in 1910 attended the International School Hygiene congress in Paris. In the same year he was appointed physician in chief at St. Elizabeth hospital and in 1913 was a delegate from the United States to the 17th international congress of medicine held in London.

His work as supervisor of hygiene in the Boston schools won him immediate recognition all over the country on account of the novel and successful health measures he introduced. In May, 1915, he was selected as deputy health commissioner by the state board of labor and industries out of 49 applicants. Two years ago he was appointed a member of the medical staff of the state ward by the then governor, Mr. McCall. During the influenza epidemic last fall he was in charge of a marine hospital at Brookline and when the formation of the state guard was completed he was commissioned a lieutenant colonel.

Other positions which the Lowell doctor held were instructor in schools for health officers at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, director of St. Vincent's orphan asylum and examiner for the civil service commission.

He was a member of the Harvard Alumni association, of which he was formerly vice president; the American Medical association, the National Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, the Massachusetts Association of Boards of Health, the American Public Health association, the American School Hygiene association, the International Association of Medical Inspectors of Schools, the International congress on tuberculosis, and an honorary member of the Guild of St. Luke, London. He was also a charter member of Lowell council, 72, Knights of Columbus, and was present at the recent banquet of the council in Associated hall.

Dr. Harrington also gained considerable reputation by his writings on school hygiene, and his paper on the "Growth of School Children" was especially notable.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mabel Dempsey Harrington, and three sons, Thomas D., employed by the United Fruit Co. at Costa Rica; William E. and Francis D., both of Boston. Funeral services will be held at St. Cecilia's church, Boston, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

EXTENDING MIGRATORY BIRD TREATY

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The migratory bird law, as embodied in the McLean bill which resulted in a treaty between Canada and the United States is likely to be extended to South and Central America in the near future.

At the request of the Massachusetts Fish and Game commission the matter was brought to the attention of the department of state by Congressman Rogers of Lowell, who urged the extension of the existing territory covered by the McLean law.

In reply the assistant secretary of state informed Mr. Rogers that he would take it up with the department of agriculture and when that department outlined the method which it believed desirable to pursue in securing such a treaty with South America and Central America, the department of state would give the subject thorough consideration. Mr. Rogers asked the extension of the treaty to Mexico, but to this the assistant secretary replied "There are considerations which at present render it inadvisable to discuss such a treaty with Mexico at the present moment. The same consideration, however, may not apply to South America and Central American republics."

Mr. Rogers is hopeful the treaties with those countries may be along the same lines as that with Canada.

CASUALS LOSE THEIR DIVISION INSIGNIA

CAMP DEVENS, Jan. 20.—There is a very strong feeling of injustice among the men from overseas who have been returned to this country either for discharge or because of wounds. It is all because of an order issued from Washington regarding the wearing of special insignia. The order states that officers and enlisted men who return from France as casualties or in any way other than with their own units will not be allowed to wear the insignia of the division to which they belonged on the other side.

The overseas men, especially those who were wounded while fighting as members of divisions with which they trained and went across, are very much worked up over this order. They maintain that the division insignia is official. The various markings worn as part of the uniform were issued to them by the government. They fought under those markings. They are proud of them. They indicate just what division the wearer belonged to, and these men are proud of the records and achievements of their divisions.

Of course, the men of the 26th division are wild about it. That is the only word for it. They are so proud of the Y P they wear on their left shoulder that they don't know what to do. According to this order they must remove the part of the uniform that means most to the uninitiated civilian observer.

Order Posted at Barracks

The order is posted on the bulletin board of the casual companies' barracks. Above it is an order issued by the commander of each casual company which says: "All men assigned to this company who are wearing special insignia to indicate their unit will comply with the following order and have same removed at once." In parentheses is the following: "This means the insignia worn on the left sleeve at the shoulder."

So the men are removing the prized insignia. They are doing it because they are good soldiers and obey orders. They are proud of those little bits of colored cloth. No one who wasn't entitled to wear one knows just what they mean to the boys.

Those men of the Yankee Division who have just arrived here and who have not yet had a chance to go home with the prized "Y D" on their sleeve must take it off before they leave the camp.

Some of the other New Englanders who are at this camp from overseas are removing the insignia of other divisions, which they prized because they fought under the insignia. Those of the 1st Army wear a big "A." The insignia of some of the other divisions, as worn by men who have arrived here are: 1st Division, three stripes, red, white and blue; 4th Division, four ivy leaves; 5th Division, a red diamond; 26th Division, "Y D"; 27th Division, a red circle and seven stars; 28th Division, a keystone; 29th Division, a blue and gray circle; 31st (Dixie Division), D; 79th Division, a Liberty Bell; 80th Division, two "A's," a black over red; 90th Division, a "Y" over an "O," meaning Texas and Oklahoma.

were Mrs. Geo. H. McDermott, Mrs. John A. Thurrell of North Adams. The Misses Edith Lyons, Helen Mullane, Nora Coleman, Margaret Ward and Grace Cullen. The party broke up at a late hour, all present having spent a very pleasant evening, and wishing the bride-to-be future happiness.

DOUGHBODS AND BLUEJACKETS HAVE GOOD TIME AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The local "Y" as usual, proved a wonderfully popular spot to the doughboys and bluejackets during the weekend. Over 100 men were accommodated with sleeping quarters Saturday night, and during the evening Cushman's orchestra played from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The Red Cross canteen served a Sunday morning breakfast in the lobby from 8 to 10 o'clock, and the boys were emphatic in declaring it as being equaled only by the kind that "mother used to make." In the afternoon a short address was made by Major Albert Widgery of the Salvation Army, which was followed by singing, reading and music. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' auxiliary of the association.

RECOVER BODY OF LOWELL MAN

The body of Walter Barrett, of this city, who had been missing since Nov. 20, was found floating in Boston harbor yesterday. Capt. Atkinson, of the local police department, was notified of the finding of the body last night and he in turn notified the relatives of deceased. The body was taken to the North mortuary in North Grove street, Boston.

The body was identified by a coal card found in one of the pockets, bearing the name and address of Walter Barrett, 318 Fairmount street, as well as by an employment card from the United States Cartridge Co., where deceased was employed at the time of his disappearance.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

La Grippe Coughs—

Stop those ugly hard la grippe coughs that weaken the system and lower the vital resistance to more serious ailments, by taking Foley's Honey and Tar.

Some victims of la grippe never fully recover the health of the lungs and the cough that "hangs on" is the cough that threatens.

helps from the very first dose. It puts a soothing, healing coating on the inflamed surfaces, relieves the tightness and soreness, raises phlegm easily, and gives comforting relief of ease and warmth. It is also good for bronchial coughs, troublesome night coughs, tickling throat and hoarseness. Do not accept a substitute.

"I had an attack of pneumonia, both lungs being involved. After recovering somewhat, my lungs failed to clear up, and I suffered severe pains from congestion. I took one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, and it took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs of the congestion." Yours truly, J. D. Enterkin, Winston, Gr.

I was sick in bed with la grippe and had a very bad cough. I took Foley's Honey and Tar and it helped me so much. I kept on until I stopped my cough and I got better. So now I am around the house again. I am 75 years old." Mrs. Mary Kishy, Spokane, Washington.

BIG INCOME TAX DRIVE NOW UNDER WAY

The big income tax drive of 1919 is now under way, and every preparation is being made to handle the largest collection in the history of the income tax.

"I am not waiting for the final passage of the new revenue bill by congress," said Collector John F. Mallory today, "for the new regulations and blank forms to be issued which will be about Feb. 1. To get this big tax in and get it accurately and completely, I urge that we all begin now."

"The income tax drive, long expected by the old laws as well as the new, are now in progress. The collection of the income tax is now under way, and the return of income and items of deduction allowable by law, and to do this within the period named in the law. The return is to pay the tax if any is due."

"Neither of these collections can be made without a careful review of income and expenditure for the tax year. That is why the big income tax drive is already under way. Every citizen's pencil is busy. The old year is done, all its fruits are gathered, and every person who earned well or earned a good competence, must analyze his own case in cold figures."

"When the new bill is enacted into law, I will have the proper return forms distributed throughout the district, and everybody will be informed of the date when the sworn return must be filed. It is my plan to send my men out to central locations, and to have them travel through the district, aiding taxpayers in the preparation of the returns and in deciding doubtful points. We will go right to the people with the income tax, and with the co-operation which the public can give the government, the returns will be filed by everybody who comes under the law's provisions, the right taxes will be paid, and the government will have done its full patriotic duty toward the government's support."

"Meanwhile, let me say again, there is no need of delaying the preparation of figures. Anything that congress does now will not affect the amount of a person's earnings for 1918. Let us avoid the belated throwing together of figures that may hit or miss. Figures cannot be accepted as the basis of taxation. It is clearly the duty of every person to compile correct figures, and ascertain whether his income for 1918 was sufficient to make necessary a sworn return."

"The year 1918 was a banner year for salaries and wages, and the high war prices brought unusual profits to the average small tradesman and to the farmer. The opinion in Washington is that a million citizens and residents will make this year their first income tax returns."

"All signs indicate that the income tax this year will reach nearly every working man and woman, and nearly every merchant, shop keeper and farmer. But all will have to pay the tax, but nearly all will be obliged to make a sworn statement of the year's income."

Sharpen Your Pencil
"I am, therefore, advising every unmarried person who earned $1000 or over during the year 1918, and every married person, who together with wife or husband, earned $2000, to sharpen his pencil and figure out how he stands."

"He must ascertain accurately his gross income from all sources. There's his salary or wages, including overtime pay and having children under 18 who are working should include the earnings of such children."

"If he sold any property at a profit, the gain must be computed and included in gross income. If he rented any property to other persons, the total rents received in the year must be ascertained, and from that figure a deduction may be taken for taxes paid on rented property, the necessary repairs, fire insurance, any interest he may have paid on mortgage, and a reasonable allowance for annual wear and tear of the rented property. The balance is included in gross income for the year."

"Interest on bank deposits, whether withdrawn or added to his bank balances, must be included in all calculations of income. Bond interest received during the year must also be included, except interest on municipal, county or state bonds. Interest on United States bonds need not be included by the ordinary bond holder who purchased small amounts. Holders of large amounts of Liberty bonds, however, should ask their bankers to write to my office for the rule applying to tax on such interest."

How to Figure It
"A person buying and selling merchandise must find his profits for the year on the following basis: First, ascertain the gross sales or total cash receipts. Then add together the inventory at the beginning of the year and the purchases of goods for resale. From this latter sum subtract the inventory of goods on hand at the year's end, and the result is the cost of goods sold. This cost, plus necessary expenses incurred solely through conduct of the business, is to be deducted from the gross sales, and the result is the net earnings of the business."

"A professional man derives his professional income by ascertaining the total of fees for services and deducting therefrom all expenses connected directly and solely with his practice."

"A farmer must figure up all income derived from the sale or exchange of products during the year, whether such produce was raised on the farm or purchased and resold. He is allowed to deduct from this total his expenses of the year connected with the planting, cultivation, harvesting, and marketing of the crop, or the care, feeding and marketing of live stock. He is not allowed to deduct the amount expended in 1918 in purchasing stock for resale; but when such stock is sold the cost is to be included."

from sale price in ascertaining the gain to be included in his return of income. The cost price of stock bought prior to 1917 cannot be deducted as in the case just cited, if such cost was included in the deduction made in the year of purchase.

"The farmer is not required to include in his income tax computation the value of farm produce consumed by himself and family. But in cases where he exchanges produce for merchandise, groceries, etc., the market value of the articles received in exchange must be included."

"All other items of income arising during the year through personal services, business or trade, through use of property or money, should be added into the same for 1918."

"Everybody wants to know what income is exempt from tax. Very few things that fall to the average man may be legally disregarded in figuring up his 1918 income. Gifts and bequests can be eliminated; also proceeds of life insurance received by the beneficiary of an insured person, person who cashed in an endowment policy, need report as income only that portion which exceeds the total of the premiums he paid in all years on that policy. Annuities are not taxable, unless the person received in the year payments which represent, when added to all prior payments on the annuity, an amount greater than the original cost of the annuity. Dividends on unexpired life insurance policies are not taxable income; but dividends on paid-up policies must be considered income. Alimony is not income to the recipient, nor is it an allowable deduction on the part of the person who pays."

"From the total of all items of income, there are certain deductions allowable by law. All interest paid on personal indebtedness and all taxes paid during the year are deductible, except federal income and excess profits, taxes, inheritance taxes and assessments for local improvements, such as sidewalks, sewers, etc. Losses incurred in business or trade are allowable, also losses arising from fires, storms, shipwreck or other casualty, or from theft, in cases where such losses are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. Losses incurred outside of a person's regular business are allowable to the extent of gains reported from similar transactions within the year. Debts due to the taxpayer actually ascertained to be worthless during the year are deductible."

Property Depreciation
"Depreciation on property used in a profession, in business, or in farming is another item that may be claimed as a deduction. The storekeeper may claim depreciation on his fixtures, and on his delivery horses and wagons, but not on his stock held for sale. The professional man may claim similar deduction on his instruments; and, in the case of a physician who maintains a team or auto for making his calls on patients, reasonable depreciation may be claimed. The farmer may claim depreciation on his farm buildings, aside from his personal residence, also on his farm machinery, his workhorses and farm work wagons. The theory of depreciation, in connection with the income tax, is that wear and tear caused by use in earning income is a real expense in the earning of that income. The rate is determined by the number of years that the property ordinarily would be useful, and the cost of the property is the basis of computation. If the property suffering depreciation was bought or acquired prior to March 1, 1913, the market value as of that date is used, instead of the cost, in figuring depreciation.

"Contributions or gifts actually made in 1918 to organizations operating exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes, and to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, may be deducted, to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent of the net income computed without the benefit of this deduction."

"After the total of all income is found, and the deductions allowable by law have been computed as an offset, the amount of income in excess of such deductions is the net income, which forms the basis of the assessment of tax."

"If every person in this district will examine his own 1918 income and his allowable deductions, in line with data that I have given, he will know beyond doubt whether he must file his return when the blanks arrive. And here is how he will determine his liability to file a return. If he is single he must file if his net income was $1000 or more, and this requirement is enforced whether or not he is the head of a family. If he is married, he must file his return if his net income, including that of his wife and minor children, was $2000 or more."

"I want to emphasize the co-operation feature of the income tax this year. The policy of the internal revenue bureau is to aid taxpayers to meet the requirements of the law. We are going right to the people, not to swing clubs or to mulct the wage-earner of his savings, but offering every helpful governmental function that will assist people to do their duty."

Woman Is To Be Tried

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Marguerite Augustine Lebaudy, 33, of the Nassau county jail at Mineola, L. I., yesterday spent the most comfortable and self-contained day since she killed her husband. Her condition was described as "markedly improved."

It is hoped that the grand jury, which will reconvene Tuesday, will be able to reach a decision by Tuesday night, so that she may know whether she will have to undergo trial.

Many believe that no indictment will be returned. Mrs. Lebaudy says she is ready to go on the witness stand and tell "the whole truth, which is sufficient."

Other visitors besides Joseph A. Kerrigan, her physician, were Mrs. Emily Lodenburg and Attorney Harry W. Moore. Mr. Moore asked the newspapers to help him in his search for the man who told Louis Deferrari of Westbury that Lebaudy had offered him $1500 to kill Mrs. Lebaudy and Jacqueline.

After telling that story to Deferrari, who immediately reported it to Dist. Atty. Charles R. Weeks, the man disappeared. Mr. Moore believes his story will be of great assistance to the defense.

Mr. Moore today will turn over to Mr. Weeks the affidavit of the drug clerk, who says that Lebaudy tried to buy poison from him. The clerk's name was withheld by Mr. Moore. Mrs. Lebaudy continues to receive a large number of letters, many of them from former acquaintances of the late "Emperor of the Sahara," offering to help her.

Mr. Moore is busy with the steps preliminary to investigating the estate now. Until an administrator is appointed no one has authority to start a business-like searching for the whereabouts of Lebaudy's papers. The location of the bulk of his property, estimated "conservatively" to be at least $2,000,000, is known.

FANNIE WARD

Greatest Stage Plays Ever

"THE NARROW PATH"

A six-reel extra selected Fannie Ward photo play adapted for this screen by Ouida Bergere and Jack Cunningham from A. H. Woods' Broadway success of the same name, directed by George Fitzmaurice.

"The Narrow Path" is a strong, virile drama of American life—a page to scan—born from the Book of Life! It presents a story as old as the pyramids, and yet a story that is ever new! A tale of a modern Selahazade and his feasting of a woman's trustfulness and their penalty—a drama of the straight and narrow way leading to happiness and the broad way leading to destruction!

The keynote of the play is expressed in one of the sub-titles reading:

"God never planned a double standard—one for the man and another for the woman. And yet, in the eyes of the world, the woman always must pay! The Son of Man said: 'Let he who is without sin among you cast the first stone.' It is a saying as faithful now as in the days when Jesus walked upon the earth."

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Some points in the reports to which Premier Clemenceau referred Saturday, when he said he had consulted two eminent jurists on the penal responsibility of the ex-German emperor, are now made public.

The report was drawn up by Ferdinand Larnaude, dean of the Paris Law Faculty, and Dr. A. G. de Lapradelle, professor of rights of nations in the same faculty.

The object of the inquiry was to investigate from a purely juridical point of view if the crimes committed by the German government and

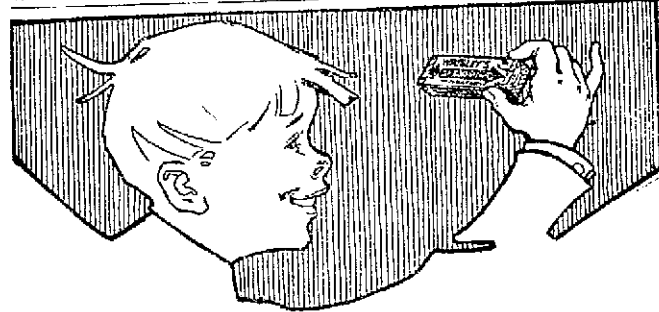

Daily Health Talks

A Single Remedy Often Cures
Many Diseases

BY VALENTINE MOTT, M. D.

It is almost impossible to give a list of the endless diseases that follow indigestion. Perhaps a whole column in this newspaper would be required to print them all. You eat to keep alive—to supply blood and flesh and bone and muscle and brain. It is easy to see that if your food is not digested and taken up by the delicate organs and distributed where it is needed, a disease of some sort is sure to come. Dyspepsia is a common symptom, and so are liver complaint, loss of flesh, nervousness, bad memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, no appetite. Many times, when neglected, indigestion results in coughs, throat diseases, catarrh, bronchitis and even more dangerous things. And all these disorders arise because the food is not properly digested in the stomach. It is plain even to a child that relief and cure are to be had only by setting up a healthy condition in the stomach. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., many years ago combined a number of vegetable growths into a temperance remedy for indigestion, and called it Golden Medical Discovery. It is probably the most efficacious discovery ever made in medicine, for the first of people all over the world who have had their chronic illness overcome by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes an amazing total of thousands.

I know of no advice better than this: Begin a home treatment today with this good vegetable medicine. It will show you better than I can tell you what it will do. When taking Golden Medical Discovery, you can rest assured of one very important thing—it contains neither alcohol nor opium. There is nothing in it but standard roots and herbs that possess curative properties of a high order. A safe medicine is the only kind you can afford to take.—Adv.

NOTICE TO NERVOUS WOMEN

Mrs. Seibert Tells How You Can
Overcome Nervous Conditions

Louisville, Ky.—"I suffered badly from nervousness, a run-down condition, no appetite and pains in my back—until I just had to give up. A friend told me about Vinol and I felt better after taking the second bottle. Now I have a good appetite and am feeling fine, strong and healthy in every way."—Mrs. I. P. Seibert.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Seibert's case, is because it contains the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength. Lockett's Riker-Jaynes Drug Store, Lowell Pharmacy, Falls & Furlinghouse, F. J. Campbell, and druggists everywhere.

Many involved the penal responsibility of the ex-German emperor, what tribunal should judge him, and whether his extradition could be demanded.

New Tribunal Urged

The authors of the report give a long argument against the bringing of the ex-emperor before a tribunal of common law, because his will commanded, but his hand did not execute.

They say that he was not the principal offender and that, therefore, could only be punished as an accomplice. An international tribunal consequently must be found.

They consider The Hague arbitration court founded in 1899 conference incompetent to try the emperor, as the court was meant for cases where no penalty is to be applied.

They argue that an entirely new jurisdiction must be created, which should be the first instrument of a league of nations and in which should appear exclusively the states which fought Germany.

Extradition Sure

The two French jurists prove that the extradition of the ex-German ruler cannot be refused as he is not a political refugee. The report says: "It is antijuridical to assimilate war with conspiracy. Crimes of war are crimes of public law and international law not political crimes."

The authors of the report begin by establishing that no penalty is possible against a nation any more than against a company, but that the manager or director of a company can be punished.

Kaiser Really Liable

"The emperor in the first place," says the report, "as king of Prussia, is president of the confederation by virtue of a special law in which human will does not enter. The German sovereign depends only on God and the sword."

"With such a conception of power it would be unjust to the highest degree to allow the emperor to escape responsibility for his actions; his responsibility for the war for which, under the constitution, the decision belongs to him alone; his responsibility for violation of Belgium's neutrality, which was willed by him; responsibility for acts of terrorism by his troops, which he willed and ordered."

The report quotes a letter from the ex-emperor to the emperor of Aus-

TRIO CONFESS TO EAST BOSTON HOLDUP

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Two women, Mrs. Mary Thistle, 28, and Miss Sadie Drohan, 24, of 37 1-2 Hanson street, and a man, William Gallagher, 26, of 42 Hanson street, South End, are held by the police in connection with the murderous assault and robbery of Carmine Mazza, aged 54, in East Boston late Saturday night.

The three were arrested early yesterday morning at 37 1-2 Hanson street. Acting on a clue furnished by Mazza, officers visited a house on Milford street. From there the trail led to the house on Hanson street. When the police arrived they found the Thistle and Drohan women there. While cross-examining them Gallagher appeared. His clothing and collar, the police say, were covered with blood and one of his front teeth was missing. He made no attempt to resist arrest, but said, "I guess you guys got me wrong."

When searched at Station 7, $171 was found on Gallagher. In the interval between the robbery and his appearance at the South End house Gallagher admitted he had purchased a new hat. The man who attacked Mazza lost his hat in the scuffle, the police say.

Following the arrest of the trio, they were taken to the East Boston relief station, where Mazza was taken for treatment because of injuries due to the beating he received. He positively identified each of the three.

TENDER LUNGS
For almost five decades the building up of vitality and the strengthening of tender lungs has been associated with

Scott's Emulsion

Have you tender lungs? Do you catch cold easily? It is the part of wisdom to build up your strength. TAKE SCOTT'S OIL.

Later they were taken to police headquarters, photographed and their finger prints taken.

According to the police both Gallagher and the women have admitted their guilt and have given in detail the part they played in the holdup. They told the police that it was planned Friday night on information given by Mrs. Thistle, who had been doing some housework for Mazza at his home, 81 Webster street, East Boston, where he lived alone.

The Drohan and Thistle women called on Mazza shortly after 3 o'clock Saturday night, and asked him to go out and buy some wine. In his absence, the women are said to have confessed they let Gallagher into the house and concealed him in a front room.

When they left the house, Mazza accompanied them to the door. While passing through the dark hallway on his way back to the kitchen he was attacked and beaten over the head until he was unconscious, although he put up a good fight.

When he regained his senses, Mazza staggered a quarter of a mile to the quarters of Engine 49, Orleans and Summer streets, where he fell exhausted from loss of blood, and was later found by the firemen. His head was frightfully battered, one wound requiring 16 stitches. Gallagher asserted, the police state, that he was asked to do the job by the women and that he had been drinking heavily at the time. When arrested, he is said to have been sober.

The women are alleged to have told the police that when they broached the subject to Gallagher he replied, "I would kill a man for $500."

The trio will be arraigned before Judge Joseph H. Barnes in the East Boston district court today. They were closely questioned about a series of holdups in Boston, but denied emphatically having any part in them.

ANOTHER OIL LAMP PARABLE

You wouldn't think the Standard Oil company would ever have missed an opportunity to advertise kerosene, would you? It did. It probably missed one of the greatest advertising opportunities of its career, as is shown by this circumstance:

Until four years ago the Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay had never enjoyed electric lights. Kerosene lamps were used for years, gave good satisfaction to the family apparently, and no one but the servants objected.

If Standard Oil knew this it kept the matter quiet. But why neglect to ask the public if its fine, cheap illuminant was "good enough for T. R. isn't it good enough for you?"

Don't be like the Standard Oil in neglecting a great opportunity to advertise how excellent a store you have. You neglect to have the good story about yourself and your business passed along by over 50,000 voices, if you fail to have an ad in

Lowell's Greatest Newspaper

START BUILDING

There are many obstacles to business that would disappear if government work that has been planned for years were started promptly. The federal government has a duty to perform in the premises and one that should not be allowed to lag. Here in Lowell, for example, a new postoffice is to be built. Why not get to it without delay?

The improvement of the Merrimack river is another project that could be taken up at once if the legislature would do its part.

It may be said that not much can be done on this undertaking before spring; but if the legal authorization be promptly given, we believe the treasury department of the government will lose no time in getting the operations started. That would put new life into business all through the Merrimack valley.

This work is held up awaiting the action of the state legislature in authorizing the million dollars which is the part of the expense to be charged to the state.

Coming down to municipal governments, we believe that they can aid greatly if they start up building projects without any unnecessary delay. They should do more than that; they should hurry them along so as to encourage business in other lines. If all were to do this, the result would be a more speedy resumption of all kinds of business.

Few cities are without building plans that have been held up as a result of the war. Here in Lowell, we have a high school project with several demands for other school buildings which are greatly needed. Why not get things moving so as to begin the work as soon as possible? If the municipal council and the school board should have to meet daily for the next two weeks, it would not be too much of a sacrifice to make in order to reach a solution of that problem in time to start work as soon as the weather will permit.

The men who have planned the auditorium as a memorial to the soldiers and sailors who served in the war, will waste no time after they get the necessary authorization of the legislature, which is expected to be given with more than usual haste. In the interest of the public, the legislature should class this among the emergency measures requiring to be hurried to enactment.

President Wilson advised the starting of public works in order to keep business moving during the transition period. It is the duty of federal, state and municipal authorities to take the hint and get busy on whatever kind of work can be started without delay. The exigency is here and the men who delay such work for a single hour are acting as clogs upon the wheels of progress and against the public interest.

Can the usual inertia of officialdom be overcome in this case so that an impetus be given to the general business of New England, and more particularly of Massachusetts, and the city of Lowell?

It is in time of public necessity such as now confronts them that the worth and resource of public officials are shown.

Our board of trade, which during the past year has concerned itself mainly with war work, may be able to help in bringing an early start in building operations. If so, it will undoubtedly use its influence for that purpose.

PERPLEXED SHOWMEN

The movies represent a wonderful industry and so much money in the shape of dimes and nickels do the patrons show under the ticket

windows as a real "silver stream" that Uncle Sam, casting about for all possible revenue raising sources, is about to revise his movie tax plan in hopes of increasing the depth of the "silver stream," or that part of it represented by federal taxes paid over to him.

Resides charging a tax of 1 cent on every 10 cent admission, Uncle Sam determined to tax film footage, so he ordained that film makers must pay him a tax of 15 cents for every thousand feet of film negative manufactured. This looked good to Uncle Sam and has in reality nettled him some revenue.

But what of the movie exhibitor and his patrons? The film maker, the producer as the trade calls him, said to the exhibitor, "You must pay this footage tax. If you want to pass the buck still farther along and make your patrons pay more for your entertainment, that probably is part of a well recognized American custom—to make the ultimate consumer pay in the end."

It was done. This explains the reason it costs us more to see just about the same kind of motion pictures we used to see.

From this ticket tax of 1 cent for each 10 cent admission, the government the past year realized $60,000,000. Uncle Sam's taxers got hot on the trail and wondered if they couldn't tap the keg again and increase this tax money. They had it in mind to slap on another 1 cent tax for each 10 cent admission, making the tax 2 cents for each 10 cent admission.

The nation's motion picture exhibitors acting as a unit, and a well organized unit, have protested. Members of an efficient committee visited Washington and appeared before the congressional taxation committees. They have said, in effect: "The film makers, whom the government evidently thought should contribute to its expenses by paying a footage tax, have sidestepped what we exhibitors believe was the intent of this tax regulation. These film makers have forced us to pay this footage tax. We have had to meet the situation by making people pay more to see the films."

"We do not believe the government ought to make the masses of people in the United States pay still more to see pictures. This is what this proposed 1 cent additional tax on each dime admission, proposes. We believe, if the government must raise more revenue from the motion picture industry, that the time has now come when you gentlemen should make it mandatory for the film makers to pay a tax and that you should frame the law so that its intent will not miscarry and the film producers cannot, as was done before, make the exhibitor pay the tax."

It is possible that the exhibitors, in taking this stand, have brought forward an argument liberally weighted with reason.

WORK AND PLAY

The careful planning of recreation for the soldiers during the war, was the official recognition that our fighters were human beings, citizens of a democracy, fighting for human, democratic happiness. It was this that sent our boys with joyous, joking, unquarrelsome defiance of death through the red hell of battle to glorious victory. It kept them fit and brought them back the cleanest army that ever answered a roll call.

We learned much about playing as well as fighting in this war. We learned that vicious diversions could be fought much better by abundant recreation than by superabundant preaching.

We learned that play, as well as government, must be democratic. Paternalistic patronizing, "up stage" directing and dictating, roused resentment or was baffled by indifference. Only where skilled leadership was inspired by the spirit of co-operation was success attained.

We learned that such democratic play is essential to vigorous morale in fighting or working. The boys at the front combined playing and fighting and went into the "great game" with the same spirit they learned in gentler sports. When labor shall be able to include that spirit of constructive play, with its joyous rivalry in accomplishment, we shall have learned one more great lesson the war tried to teach us.

The least we can do is to save the splendid machinery we build for the organization of amusement among the soldiers and sailors and apply it to civil life. The dull boy produced by all work and no play is an inefficient worker and a poor citizen. Our industrial centers, even more than our military camps, need organized, virile, democratic amusement.

Our schools and colleges, social centers and factories can make splendid use of the amusement forces mobilized for war.

OPEN THE HOSPITALS

During the past week, there have been some alarming deaths as a result of influenza. This disease is again assuming epidemic proportions. To stop its progress, the board of health should insist upon isolation of the patients. This might prove inconvenient to the families afflicted; but inconvenience is preferable to death.

There are few families that would not put up with a vast amount of inconvenience in order to be saved from this terrible scourge.

The fact that physicians and nurses wear masks in treating the patients proves that they believe it to be highly contagious or infectious. That being the case, why temporize with a disease so very dangerous? For this purpose, the isolation hospital should be opened for patients without any further dallying. The sewer is not finished and there is no telling when it will be; but if this is not presently feasible, then some temporary arrangement may be made if none such has been made already so that the hospital can be used without further delay.

It is now up to Dr. Smith, the superintendent, to devise plans by which the institution can be used to meet the exigencies of the present epidemic. The hospital and all the expensive equipment, together with the superintendent, should not be held in idleness while an epidemic such as the present is claiming many victims, we might say, daily.

THE MOONEY CASE

The National Labor congress has voted to inaugurate a general strike on July 4th if the case of Thomas J. Mooney be not disposed of to their satisfaction before that date. That is paramount to holding a threat over the courts of the land, and it will not be tolerated in this nation.

The Bolsheviks of Russia could do nothing more subversive of freedom and justice than to make a threat of that kind. The administration of justice, so far as it lies in the hands of the courts, must be defended at all costs against intimidation. If it is thought that Mooney has not had a fair trial, let his counsel take the necessary steps to secure one. The fountains of justice are not closed against him or any other man who has a just case. But the trial of such cases is conducted in the courts, not in newspapers or in labor halls.

It is to be hoped that union labor throughout the country will not be a party to any such radical action as a general strike, as a means of coercing the courts of justice.

The death of Dr. Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg at the hands of Berlin mobs, is an indication that the Germans, having overcome the socialist group known as Spartacists, will not allow them to get an opportunity to reassess their power. The mob method was not creditable, but in a matter of that kind the Germans are not very particular.

JOINT INSTALLATION BY CARRIERS AND CLERKS

The National Association of Letter Carriers and Clerks held a joint installation of officers Saturday evening at the Elks' hall, Middle street, before a record-breaking attendance of members. The big hit was the musical talent of the postal employees and the professional talent secured under the auspices of Charles A. Carey and John H. Farrell, to augment the association's soloists.

All the musical numbers, both instrumental and vocal, readings and vaudeville acts were rendered vociferously and in the memory of the oldest carrier who attended the meeting never before was such a meritorious

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a few days and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

the singing talent participated.

The catering committee performed its tasks so agreeably to the members that it was voted to give it a rising vote of thanks. The committee follows: Chairman, Maurice J. Powers, John P. Sheehan, Edward H. Welch, James O'Dea, James J. Custer, Victor F. Turnquist, David H. Dwyer, Frank Hickson. It was a great show.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Notes—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Yankee Prince," one of George Cohan's big musical comedy successes, which is to be the week's attraction at the Lowell Opera House beginning with matinee today, is sure of scoring one of the biggest hits of the season. Manager Carroll has engaged, at considerable expense, a big professional chorus of pretty girls, who will augment the local cast in its presentation for the week. Patrons will remember the last musical comedy effort by the Emerson All Star Players a few weeks past. At that time the patrons were pleasantly surprised at the wonderfully clever manner in which the engaging company handled their respective parts. Those who are in a position to judge, freely express the belief that the coming attraction will offer even better and bigger opportunities to the players.

Miss Jane Salisbury and Mr. Noy will be found in most congenial roles, and the others will also be found in acceptable parts. Miss Girard Huntington will return to the company, after a two weeks' absence, and her presence will surely be welcomed by all. Miss Huntington is extremely popular with the players for the reason that the management will give away free to all patrons holding reserved seats a copy of the words and music of the big song hit "Lovely Mary."

The advance sale of tickets for the week has been unusually large. Take heed and make your reservations early, and thus avoid disappointment. To 251 and have your name placed on the subscription list. It saves you the trouble and inconvenience of hurrying and scurrying at the ticket office at the eleventh hour.

THE STRAND

"Eye For Eye," starring the superb Nazimova, will be shown at The Strand today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The picture has been taken from the play "L'Occident," written by the noted Belgian author, Henri Kistner, and adapted for the screen by June Marjorie and Albert Capellani. The story is a thrilling one of Oriental love and hate—depicting the two strongest motives in these fiery and passionate people—the east where a human life means nothing in comparison with the traditional inheritance. Hassana, the beautiful Arabian girl, falls in love with a French officer, whom she helps to escape from her tribe. This act brings the wrath of her own people on her head and she is left to die in the blazing desert. The story is one of passionate hate and passionate love, and is more entrancing than any tale ever told. Be sure and see this wonderful actress in this tremendous production.

Al Hison, more fascinating than ever, will be seen in an entirely new role in "Her Inspiration," the other stellar feature for the first of the week. It's a delightfully refreshing screen offering and will surely please every one. A Vitaphone comedy, the latest Universal Weekly and a new Chester Outing will help make the bill of the superior type. Don't forget that "The Strand Fashion Show" is coming shortly. Bigger and better than ever.

WORCESTER TAKES GAME ROLLER POLO LEAGUE FROM LOWELL

Lowell Didn't Do Very Well Last Week—Better Times Are Coming

WORCESTER, Jan. 20.—Lowell was drafted by Worcester in the American Roller Polo League series here Saturday night, 5 to 3, before one of the largest crowds of the season. A dilly-dally start on the part of the Spindia City men was the real cause of their downfall. For Worcester had piled up five points before their opponents had copied one.

Lowell didn't do a bit of scoring until the very close of the second period when Hart was able to shoot one through the goal. In the third session Lowell came back strong and scored no less than four. Griffith, Hart and Harkins in the stellar roles, the latter getting two. Worcester was not dismayed, however, and with the appreciable aid of Higgins slammed in three which easily sewed up the game. Lowell was helpless after that. Higgins and Slater were the star performers for the winners, each getting four goals. Hart and Harkins played well for the losers. The lineup, score and summary:

Worcester	Lowell
Slater, Jr.	Hart
Higgins, Jr.	Harkins
Griffith, Jr.	Griffith
Doanely, Jr.	Doanely
Mallory, Jr.	Mallory

Summary: Score, Worcester 5, Lowell 3. Rushes, Hart 1, Slater 5, Stops, Mallory 5, Pence 2, Higgins 1, Griggs, Timor, Dove.

WIREMEN AND PIPERS ORDER IN COBLENZ

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, Saturday, Jan. 18.—By the Associated Press.—Owing to the insufficient fuel supply the consumption of electricity among the civil population of Coblenz is to be reduced by half. WRESTLING JOHNSON vs. PROKOS

Merrimack Hall—Jan. 28, 1919
Lodge 138

Lowell didn't put in a very prosperous week in the American Roller Polo league last week, winning only two out of five, a pace which is not consistent with league leading.

Salem gained its right to lead the procession by winning four out of five games. The only reverse which the leaders met was at the hands of Lowell Tuesday night. Lowell was in the lead Monday, but owing to illness Monday evening and the Salem's victory, the latter quintet went to the top of the ladder. Tuesday evening's victory restored the locals to prime favor but the glory war of short duration and Wednesday's defeat sent Lowell back into second place.

However, Lowell is not out of the running by any means and only a few more victories, synchronous with a Salem defeat, would put the team back in the leading position. This week's games will furnish the team an excellent opportunity to get back into the limelight. Two games apiece are scheduled with Providence and Salem and one with Lawrence. Providence plays here tomorrow night and Salem Friday night. If the psychology of the home stamping grounds enters into these contests to any extent, there should result Lowell victories. The stiff games of the week will be this evening at Providence and Thursday evening at Salem. Lawrence is considered more or less easy money, but, of course, overconfidence in this respect is harmful.

Salem, New Bedford and Worcester were Lowell scalpers last week and no apparent reason can be assigned for the trio of defeats. The old combination wouldn't work, that was all.

Providence and Worcester are fighting out a merry battle for third place and the past week brought the palm to the Rhode Island city. New Bedford won only one of its four games. Lawrence seems to be out of the running, but it is not impossible for the downriver men to come more to get into the procession. If they can show the necessary punch, the season has some distance to go yet and the pennant winner is by no means decided. All the teams of the league are drawing big crowds and the game is assuredly on a paying basis.

This week's schedule follows:

The wrestling bout that Lowell sports have been looking forward to—that between Jim Prokos and Bob Johnson, will be staged in Merrimack hall, 138 Merrimack street, a week from tomorrow night, Jan. 28. Prokos is a native of Lowell and Johnson is said to be a bad man to mix things up with. He comes from Vermont where he has done a lot of successful wrestling and has been in Lowell for some time.

The men will go into the ring at even weight, 175 pounds, and the one who gets the best two out of three falls will be the winner.

FORCING HAM AND EGG SANDWICH ORDER

"I want four ham and egg sandwiches and I want them quick," said Arthur H. Hoover, a husky appearing doughboy to the chef at Mr. Mulcahy's lunch cart on Jackson street shortly after midnight last Saturday. "Just as soon as I can cook them you shall have them," replied the man behind the counter. Hoover and his three companions waited a bit, but the sandwiches were not forthcoming fast enough to suit them, whereupon Hoover unanimously elected himself a committee of one to hurry the meal along.

He began his campaign by arguing that he started swearing and finally drew from his pocket a formidable set of brass knuckles to add force to his discourse. "Things were a bit exciting for a while, and shortly afterwards Hoover was on his way to the station, while his three friends were among the missing.

He was charged in police court this morning with having metallic knuckles in his possession, and after being found guilty was ordered to serve the next three months in jail. Judge Enright declared that the time has come when visiting soldiers must learn that they cannot start a rough house in Lowell at their discretion and get away with it.

John J. Higgins, a young man of 18 years, was charged with drunkenness and also with carrying a pistol. He was found guilty and continued in the cage of 3509 until Wednesday for sentence.

Mustapha Mohammed was charged with threatening Ahmed Hussein and the case continued until Saturday.

Edward Riley, who was found guilty last Saturday of attempted larceny from James E. Niland, was called before the court today and given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Jacob Rutanya was charged with drunkenness, and the arresting officer testified that Jacob was doing his best to beat up a crowd of soldiers at the time of his arrest, and that after being tried away from them did his best to repeat on his captor. Jacob was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, and warned by the court that if he did not get out of Lowell immediately the sentence would become effective.

A large gathering of non-prohibitionists were present and drove down small fines or direct jail sentences. The prohibition officer also released a large number.

Labor Chiefs Tell Workers To Disregard Conference Bids Mill Owners Made

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20.—At a meeting of the general committee of the Textile Workers yesterday it was voted to urge employees of the American Woolen company to pay no attention to the circular letter given out by that company Friday asking the employees of each mill to meet its agent and discuss the 48-hour proposition. Later in the day officials of the committee and of the Central Labor union addressed several mass meetings at which this vote was explained and it was decided to send letters to the American Woolen company workers before Wednesday, the day named by the company for the meetings, asking them not to discuss the question.

Pres. James R. Menzie of the Central Labor union said that the general committee had been named to represent all the workers and that it stood ready at any time to meet the mill men or a committee representing them. The desire was, he said, to meet on neutral ground, that is, not in any of the mills.

Pres. Menzie said that the local situation was being handled by local labor leaders and that it would be advantageous for the mill men to treat with this committee, rather than to encourage the coming to this city of agitators from other places. He said:

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Charles Edward Cotter and Miss Norah Donahoe, two well known young people of this city, took place Saturday afternoon at St. Patrick's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Joseph A. Curtin. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the contracting couple. After the ceremony the couple left on a brief honeymoon trip and upon their return they will make their home in this city.

NOW COMES "LEGLESS MESSENGER"

Orin Bennett, Oakland, Cal., inventor, isn't going to be very popular with the messenger boys. He has patented an electrical typewriter which he claims will transmit and receive messages, singly or in multiple, directly over telephone or telegraph wires, without possibility of mistake. In cost and construction it differs little from the ordinary typewriter.

there were hundreds of agitators anxious to come here and that if they did come there would probably be trouble.

Speaking at a Polish mass meeting Pres. Menzie said that the textile workers of England are working 44 hours a week. He said that a 48-hour week in this city would guarantee full time work all the time, whereas a 44-hour week produces more than 14 hours and is consequently punctuated by periods of idleness.

TIME REDUCTION FOLLOWS R. I. SURPLUS

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20.—Cotton manufacturers in Rhode Island are discussing curtailment, and it is said that many of the largest mills may be placed on three-quarter or half-time before the end of the present month.

Loading mill managers say the market is overproduced and that a drastic cut in prices of the manufactured goods, the greatest reduction since Civil war days, does not seem likely to release the situation.

Short time is now being made the rule in the woolen and worsted mills, some of those in the Olneyville factory district having adopted a five-day week, while others are laying off operatives in different departments.

Manufacturers assert the curtailment which has already taken place and that which is now contemplated has nothing whatever to do with the textile union demands for an eight-hour day, and that they have all decided not to make the change at the present time.

AUSTRIANS ARE DONE WITH MONARCHIES

VIENNA, Jan. 20 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Return to the monarchical system of government in German Austria is out of the question in the opinion of some of the government leaders here. One high official, who is believed to represent the views of government circles, is quoted as saying that the dynasty had lost nearly all its popularity during the war, while republican ideas had made extraordinary progress even in the most remote parts of the country. Besides, he said, the mass of the people certainly was not inclined to contribute to the cost of maintaining an expensive royal court after the enormous financial sacrifices entailed by a calamitous war.

Vienna is the heart of German Austria and all that relates to the commerce and prosperity of this part of the old Austrian empire is of burning interest. Government officials point out that the German Austrian industries are in need of raw materials and machinery which only Germany can supply. The paper mills, leather and woodware manufacturers, agricultural machinery and engineering works, especially the electro-technical establishments, have been conducted on a scale to fulfill the requirements of a great empire. The manufacturers now see that their markets will be less extensive than under the empire. It is expected that the Czechs-Slovaks, the Poles, the Hungarians and the Jugoslavs will erect customs barriers tending to exclude from these separated countries German Austrian goods. Besides, Austria will have to make formidable Czech competition in Poland and expects to be excluded from competition in the Bohemian market owing to the cheaper cost of living in Bohemia and the proximity of coal supplies there. Apart from the magnesite ores in Styria, German Austria is poor in natural resources, while her stocks of raw materials are said to be more depleted than those of any of the former great nations of Europe.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Community campaigns to raise district quotas for the $500,000 fund solicited from New England by the American committee for devastated France were opened today. Boston was asked to contribute $200,000 of this allotment. The committee, headed by Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, hopes to raise $2,000,000 throughout the country. Money raised in New England will be used largely in the department of the Aisne because it was in this region that New England troops engaged in their greatest campaigns.

FEWER ACCIDENTS IN KEYSTONE STATE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—The number of industrial accidents in Pennsylvania has steadily decreased in the last three years. This is attributed to improvements in machinery and the exercise of greater care by workers.

Accidents in the mills, mines and railroads during 1918 resulted in injury to 184,844 employees, of whom 3103 died from their injuries. This total is 45,036 less than the number injured in 1917 and 70,712 less than in 1916. The fatalities of 1917 by 33 and of 1916 by 733. The fatal accidents records have been affected in the last two years by fires or explosions in munition plants. The amount of workmen's compensation awarded for fatalities and disability claims in 1918 was $10,055,712. In 1917 the total was $7,161,191 and in 1916 $4,224,875.
